GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

Planned for Duluth May 15 and 16—Experts Are Invited.

Northern Minnesota Will be Well Represented by Delegates.

A good roads convention will be held in Duluth in May, probably on the 15th and 16th days of the month. The public affairs committee of the Commercial club is back of the movement. As yet the details of the meeting have not been arranged, but it is known in a general way that delegates from all parts of Northern Minnesota will be present as well as road experts from different parts of the state and country. The object of the gathering will be to stir up an active interest in the question, and arouse the general public to the very great importance of good roads, and plenty of them, in the vigor and development of the state. The more rapid settlement and development of Northern Minnesota.

Men who are thoroughly posted on the subject will read papers relating to roads through the section it is desired to benefit, and facts and figures will be produced showing the possible and probable benefits of good roads in Northern Minnesota. The state highway commission will be on hand to take part in the discussions and to offer suggestions.

It is claimed that the more rapid development of Northern Minnesota is at present greatly retarded by the lack of more and better roads. The fact that roads to market have either been poor or lacking altogether. There is plenty of good farming land which is not in use at present, but which, it is believed, would be under cultivation, if it were more accessible, for all other conditions for the carrying out of agricultural pursuits are ideal. Those who have looked into the matter say that through most of the Northern Minnesota region roads can be constructed at comparatively small expense, taking into consideration the benefits that would result from them.

MAKES ANSWERS TO CRITICISMS

Street Railway Employee Responds to Trades and Labor Assembly.

The discussion in the Trades and Labor assembly last Friday evening when opinions disparaging to the street railway employees were expressed and seemed to be the sentiment of the majority of that body, have brought forth an answer from one of the street railway men which he desires vocalized in The Herald. He says: "Those fastidious orators whose vocal effervescence was so marked at the last meeting of the Trades council, and who have given vent to some assertions very derogatory to the street car men of this city. "One asserts that the street car men are satisfied with their condition and wages, yet since 1900 we have furnished from our ranks ten policemen, ten navy firemen, half a dozen mail carriers, post office employees, locomotive firemen, engineers, switchmen and many other positions. These have taken positions of trust and responsibility, which would seem to give the lie to the assertion of another vociferous individual that the nationality and low degree of intelligence of the street car men precludes the possibility of organization. "Now, take man for man from among the street car employees and these 'false alarm' labor leaders and their henchmen would be found wanting in intelligence, sobriety and general decency. You don't see any drunken street car men wandering along the streets, and there are no arrests for disorderly conduct, and, mind you, there are two hundred men in uniform on this system at any one time. "Our friend, when he touches upon the question of nationality, lays the foundation for much discussion. "Does he mean the Americans? Or does he refer to the Scandinavians whose ancestors have never had the chance to flout your ignorance in the face of broad-minded men. "Or the Germans or the French or the English or our blood brothers, the Canadians? Remember, friend of mine, that if it were not for these this glorious nation would never have had its beginning and you would never have had the chance to flout your ignorance in the face of broad-minded men. "While it is admitted that conditions are not all that could be desired, it is claimed by those who know, that the lot of our much despised and maligned street car men is better than that of the skilled workman. He can keep reasonably clean if he is so minded and his duties are not so arduous as are those of the mechanic. The most he does is a lot of heavy standing around and he can lay off four days a month and draw $68 to $75. Where is your artisan who is better off? True, his hours are unreasonable but so are those of some of the best paid positions held by any laboring man, and if it were not for him and his before 5 and after 5 o'clock job, our mechanic would have a little more strenuous exercise than he has between 8 and 5 o'clock. "Brothers, forgive any seeming personalities as they are but the result of surprise and indignation that you should treat us with such scant consideration. "The stripes we wear upon our sleeves instead of being the badge of 'scabs' or strike breakers, are an insignia of continuous service the first six months and the broader ones for five years each. There are not half a dozen 'scabs' on the system today and they hold their positions through merit alone. "Now, brothers, don't be so narrow as to see that there is no fertile ground here for you who labor in the field of unionism. Show us by argument or other means that we will be better off through organization. We draw $12,000 a month in wages and we spend it all here. Help us in the name of the principles of unionism, which if they do not, should hold the betterment of the laborer's condition above all else."

DELAY WORK ONCE MORE

Efforts Being Made to Have Second Street Pavement Held Up.

Improvement Has Already Been Pending for Two Years.

Objections to the paving of Second street from Sixth avenue west to Seventh avenue east, were filed this morning with the board of public works, by a number of property owners who appeared at the meeting of the board held for the purpose of giving the first hearing on the advance assessment for the work. The assessment amounts to about $60,000. The property owners had no objection to the amount of the assessment, but they did not want to see the street paved this year. The question of whether or not the street shall be paved, however, is outside of the board's hands at the present time. The preliminary work has all been done and the pavement ordered by the council. As soon as the advance assessment has been levied and collected the board will advertise for bids for the work. The preliminaries were completed two years ago, but the work was suspended at the last moment on the pretext that the water board had some changes to make in the pipes which would necessitate the taking up of the pavement. Last year the anxiety to get the West Superior street job out of the way, caused the board to delay the paving of Second street. It will probably be the first work undertaken this spring, unless the protesting property owners succeed in getting another delay. The old story of water pipes has been repeated this year, but the board of public works has been here to see that the matter is outside of the jurisdiction of the board in any event, and if the work is to be held up, it will be necessary for the council to take that action. The hearing this morning was only on the assessment. The first hearing on the advance assessment for the paving of Second street was also held this morning. This work is in the same stage as the Second street contract, and bids will be called for as soon as the assessment is collected. There was no objection to the property owners to the size or the legality of the assessment.

The total shingle production of the Duluth district is given as 64,474,000, as compared with 127,365,000 in 1904. The last production of the same district for 1905 was 1,015,000, as compared with 4,191,825 in 1904, or a decrease of 3,176,825 feet.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Lead—Letters have been received by Supt. Greier of the Homestake mines and similar letters from the Northwest, threatening them with bodily harm unless certain changes are made in the management. The governor has been asked to offer a reward for the apprehension of the writers. It is thought the letters result from an order that went into effect some time ago prohibiting the employment of men who could not speak or understand English. It was considered that the safety of the other miners was endangered by the employment of workmen unable to understand the orders and signals. Labor conditions are so satisfactory that no serious results are apprehended. The letters are believed to be the work of some fanatic.

ARLINGTON.

The favorable weather prevailing the past two weeks indicates that seeding operations in this part of the state will begin early. Many farmers contemplate increasing the wheat acreage. There is a demand for competent farm help at good wages, and as spring approaches, the demand will increase. Postmaster Reed has been notified by the department at Washington that two more rural free delivery routes will be established in this county as soon as mail boxes are put in place and other requirements complied with. This will make six rural free delivery routes for this county.

ST. PAUL.

Rev. Mr. Spade, a revivalist, accompanied by Mrs. Miley, vocalist, are engaged in a series of religious services here. The meetings are largely attended and much good is being accomplished.

ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis Falls—The business men of St. Louis Falls are considering a proposition which has been made to them by a Catholic sisters' society for establishing a new $100,000 hospital in the city. It is expected early action on the proposition will be taken. Bonds will be issued for the purpose of raising the money for the construction of the proposed new hospital. Business men are asked to purchase these bonds, which will draw 4 per cent interest to be redeemed at the expiration of five, ten, fifteen or a longer term of years, the intention of the society being to ultimately own the hospital.

LATE DOINGS IN MICHIGAN

Mutilated Body Discovered Hanging From Tree Near Range Town.
Bessmer—The head and upper part of a man's body was found dangling from a limb in the woods about a mile south of the Mikado mine. The head had several bullet holes. The body had evidently been attacked by wolves or other beasts. The body could not be identified. A detachment of 60 yards and completely routed the enemy, who were in such he would go and look for work elsewhere. He did not return and it is supposed he perished in the woods and that it was his body that was found.

There is nothing in the trunk that gives a clue to the man's identity. The authorities believe it is a case of suicide, though they cannot account for the bullet holes in the head.

Sault Ste. Marie—Game Warden Chapman has discovered a scheme among hunters in Gogebie county, to supply Chicago markets with venison. Deputies have captured several barrels of meat packed for shipment to the Windy City. It is said that several prosecutions are pending. The charges is made that hunters have been doing a big business in killing deer and supplying several cities in the Northwest. Frank Brown, the well-known guide and fisherman at the Soo, is authority for the statement that the present winter is the poorest for herring in the St. Mary's river in a number of years. The catch is small and the fish are undersize. He is unable to account for the conditions but believes that before the winter is over larger and better fish will be caught in the river.

MINNESOTA.

Mononice—Judge Henry Nason, a pioneer of Mononice, has a unique record as a justice of the peace. He has held that position for thirty years, and during that time has disposed of upwards of 2,000 cases of all sorts of civil and criminal proceedings. In addition, he has performed about 280 marriage ceremonies and in all has officiated at 200 funerals. Mr. Nason was first elected justice in 1872, serving continuously until 1890, when he went out of office for four years, since which time there has been no break in his incumbency of the office.

Frank Le Vigne is ill with smallpox at the house of his father, Henry Le Vigne, on Holmes avenue. Le Vigne has been working at Mass City and is supposed to have contracted the disease there. It was not known until a physician was called that he was afflicted with smallpox, and in the meantime he had exposed a considerable number of persons.

Escanaba—Alleging that Judge Emil Glaser was not justified in releasing James E. Burns, charged with keeping a saloon open on Sunday, the Rev. C. H. Rutledge, representative of the Upper Peninsula Anti-Saloon league, has caused the re-arrest of Burns before another judge at Escanaba. Rutledge was recently assaulted by Burns and two charges filed against Burns were dismissed by Judge Glaser.

FIRE AT LA CROSSE.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 26.—Fire which followed an explosion in the plant of the La Crosse Engraving company at 7 o'clock Saturday night destroyed that establishment, one of the largest in this city, and seriously damaged the plants of the La Crosse Corbin and Roofing company and the La Crosse Camp (electrical manufacturing) company. The plant of the Star Knitting Works, adjoining, was threatened with destruction.

THE SUNDAY PERFORMANCE.

Manager Longstreet of Metropolitan Theater is Brought Into Court.
Charged with giving a performance in the theater run by him, on the Sabbath day, William H. Longstreet, manager of the Metropolitan opera house, was arrested this morning, and arraigned in the municipal court before Judge Windom. He pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for March 6.

The complaint for seizure on by Chief Troger of the police department, and it charges that Mr. Longstreet did in a certain public theater give a public show, to-wit, a vaudeville performance, and did then and there make a noise disturbing the peace of the day, which said theatrical performance was then and there a serious interruption of the repose and religious liberty of the community.

L. C. Harris will represent Mr. Longstreet, and T. J. McKeon will have charge of the prosecution.

YOUNG SINGER'S HIT.

Miss Olga Prytz Pleases Patrons of Sunday Band Concert.
The concert given last evening by the Third Regiment band at the Lyceum theater was, according to promise, one of the best. The hit made by Miss Olga Prytz was pronounced. The little miss had to sing two encore numbers and was heartily applauded. Her voice is declared by those who pretend to know to be of marvelous range for one so young, and they expect much greater things of her.

The band numbers were each excellent. The program was high-class and the encores were popular, and the latter received the greater applause of the two.

NO NEW TRIAL FOR CRESSER
Affidavits Claim Mrs. Korby Did Not Write Certain Letter.

Judge Ensign has refused to grant John Cresser's motion to have the verdict against him vacated, and for a new trial, in the damage action brought by John Korby on account of the alleged alienation of Mrs. Olive Korby's affections.

The motion was up before the court at a hearing held Saturday afternoon. Cresser setting forth by affidavit that he had newly discovered evidence of an important nature, in the shape of a letter which Mrs. Korby was alleged to have written him from Milwaukee. When at the time he wrote to her asking her for the $50 he loaned her, Cresser claimed he was not able to produce the letter at the trial for the reason that he had lost it, the copy being slipped through a hole in his pocket into the lining of his coat.

At the hearing counter affidavits were presented in Mrs. Korby's behalf setting forth that Mrs. Korby did not write any such letter as Cresser's affidavit stated, and the court denied the motion to vacate the verdict and grant a new trial.

Korby was rendered a verdict of about $1,500 at the trial. He was represented by Judge S. F. White and R. E. Briggs. Cresser was represented by John Martin of Virginia.

The Rainy River Bridge company has been incorporated by William O'Brien of St. Paul, W. H. Cook, J. C. Muller, Val J. Mulvey and James F. Walsh.

The location of the bridge over Rainy river at a place called Pether's point, in section 25-71-24, in Itasca county.

The company is capitalized at $50,000. The bridge that it is proposed to build will be a railroad bridge for the Duluth, Virginia & Winnipeg Railroad company, of which Mr. Cook is president and Mr. O'Brien is a stockholder.

The location of the bridge, as set forth in the articles of incorporation indicates definitely where the railroad company expects to cross the Rainy river into Canada.

JOHNSON LOSES HIS POSITION
Witness Against Chief Black Is Discharged by His Employers.

His testimony against Chief Black has cost Andrew Johnson, bookkeeper for Barrett & Zimmerman, his position. Mr. Johnson stated today that he had severed a six-years' connection with the firm Saturday night.

"I had no spite against Chief Black," he said this afternoon. "I had to stick by what my books said. My books are right, and I was going to stand by them."

"I notice John Jansow's statement in this morning's paper, in which he predicts the annihilation of all statements made against Chief Black. I am confident Mr. Jansow will have occasion to modify his speech very much before the investigation is finished."

"He also says that he is glad that complete and exhaustive reports of the testimony thus far in the case have been published by Duluth's newspapers. To this I beg leave to take exception. Some of the testimony has only been published in part, and in some instances it has, unfortunately, been misleading, and would have a tendency to create wrong impressions in the minds of the people. Give us all a square deal and the truth will prevail."

Mr. Johnson was asked wherein the statements he had made were untrue, and he replied that he had not given a full account of at least the important part of the testimony, and claimed they had a tendency to make matters appear easier for Chief Black.

WILL ASK FOR RENOMINATION

Judge Middlecoff Announces Intentions—J. A. Wharton Clerk.

"As it seems to be the practice of the candidates to get early in the field this year, I desire to announce that I shall be a candidate for renomination on the Republican ticket," said J. B. Middlecoff this morning.

Judge Middlecoff has not yet filed his nomination papers but intends to do so within a few days. Speaking of his candidacy, he says:

"I feel that having been elected last time without any opposition from either party, and that I am better qualified than ever to continue to manage the affairs of the probate office as they should be, I am justified in becoming a candidate for renomination and re-election."

The record of this office for the past two years and the work that has been accomplished will, he believes, speak for themselves.

Judge Middlecoff also announces the appointment of James A. Wharton, as clerk of probate court, the appointment having been made under the new code of Minnesota laws and becoming effective March 1. The appointment is in conformity with the law passed to give the office additional help to take care of the increasing business. Miss Catherine, who has been employed in a clerical capacity by the probate office for the past five years, having a home in Duluth, will be retained by the Duluth Sons of Veterans, the Modern Samaritans and is chancellor commander of North Star lodge No. 8, Knights of Pythias.

EDDY'S RESUME OF SPEAKER CANNON'S PECULIARITIES

Frank M. Eddy in the Sauk Center Herald: It has been a fancy of mine from earliest childhood—one that has grown with my growth, and intensified with my years—to compare men to animals. I never met a man, especially a public man, whose name was on everybody's lips, but he reminded me of some prototype in the animal kingdom.

President Cleveland always reminded me of a bull dog; honest, intension; fearless of nothing; square jawed; courageous; always ready to fasten his teeth on an opponent; just as liable to set his fangs on the wrong man or the wrong idea as the right one, and when he once got his hold there was no way of getting him loose unless one picked him loose with a hand spike.

President McKinley always made me think of a greyhound; clean of limb, clean of thought, and quick of action; arriving at conclusions by instinct quicker than the lightning's flash.

Bryan was an eagle soaring in the high heavens, theory; loving the storm; making as much show in capturing a mouse as he would in capturing a full grown sheep.

Reed was a grizzly bear, absolutely indifferent to the rest of the animal kingdom; conscious of his own strength; calmly pursuing his own way; brushing aside all obstacles with an air of ennui.

Roosevelt is a lion; daring great things; doing great things; but whose accomplishments never quite equal the front he puts up.

Nelson is a ground squirrel, as the Chippewa Indians call him; always burrowing; burrowing; accomplishing what he goes after without appearing on the surface or making any fuss; digging for results, and always getting them; mysterious; his opponents are the secret of his actions, and always standing next to men who dig and men who work.

Chapp is an elk; magnificent; grand; never doing very much, but doing what he does do with an air that makes people think he moves the world and the powers of the world.

McClary is a vulture; insignificant in appearance, but when he comes in, he is a vulture; he is the opportunist; he is the man who always loses blood, but never loses sight.

Tamney reminds one of a king bird, not great or large but pestiferously active; eyes who by sheer energy, courage and force of will can make the larger birds and beasts hunt their holes at night, and he knows when it is whipped, and who crows loudly when driven into a corner as when he is exposed.

It would take too long and weary the reader too much if I were to tell of all the prominent men and what they remind me of, but the subject of this sketch, "Uncle Joe," always reminded me of a Chester White pig, and we need no disrespect to the proud speaker of the American congress in this statement.

The pig, naturally, is the cleanest animal in the world, and "Uncle Joe" is one of the cleanest men in public life. The pig is obstinate, and Mr. Cannon can't be made to do a thing he don't want to do. The president and the senate have made this discovery. There is no style about a pig, and there is none about "Uncle Joe."

A pig is honest, and Cannon's name is a synonym for rigid honesty in the world around. If a pig does not get what he wants he squeals a little, grunts a little, wails and tries again. That is Cannon. He set his cap for the speakership. He was a candidate the time Mr. Reed was elected the first time. He didn't get it and he didn't expect it. He simply grunted and bided his time. When Reed, disgruntled, retired from the office, "Uncle Joe" was renovated this sideboard was sold at auction, and it was reported that it was purchased by a Washington salesman, a shrewd Democrat, thinking to make political capital, in an impassioned speech, recited the facts of presentation, and then in a tragic voice exclaimed: "My God! What has become of the sideboard?" Mr. Cannon arose in his place and said: "It is reported on good authority that Billy Madison used to dry her wash in the East room of the White House. My God! What has become of the clothes line?"

"Uncle Joe" in action is worth going many miles to see. He starts in mildly and gently, but as he warms to his speech he pulls up his sleeves, sheds his cuffs, tears off his collar, and always winds up covered with glory and perspiration.

A pig is common and so is Cannon. In his home at Danville, Ill., he is known as "Uncle Joe," and when a man's own neighbors affectionately term him "uncle," he always possesses many lovable qualities. The sobriquet followed him to the national capital, and he became "Uncle Joe" to the nation. Now his fame has increased and he is "Uncle Joe" to the world.

The pig is the most useful animal in all the animal kingdom, and "Uncle Joe" is the most useful man in Washington. He has saved the nation more money, has punctured more frauds, and in our judgment has been, and is, without exception, the most valuable public servant in the service of the nation.

He is of the Lincoln class—"All Stock and no Style." He is a little pigish as far as he and his constituents are concerned, for he is human, very human, but outside from that natural attribute he is as broad minded as the boundaries of the nation. Nothing but his age prevents him from being the successor of President Roosevelt, and even that may not interfere, for owing to correct habits he is younger than many a man twenty years his junior.

Most disgusting skin eruptions, scurf, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes clear-eyed, clear-brained, clear-skinned.

DES MOINES WOMAN IS FATALLY BURNED.

Des Moines, Feb. 26.—One will die and three others are seriously injured, the result of a fire, a pretty and vivacious young lady, took the seat beside Mr. Batchelder and became animated conversation on the success of a newly organized "grange" in that vicinity.

Mr. Batchelder, being slightly deaf, leaned an attentive ear toward his fair companion while she, with neat and gesture, added emphasis to her enthusiastic remarks.

An old lady a few seats back in the car observed the apparently absorbing devotion of the temporary traveling companions with a disapproving eye.

Just before reaching Old Town, the little village of Great Works, and as the train approached the small station the conductor came through the car announcing "Great Works! Great Works!"

"Yes," piped up the lady, glad to have found a sympathizer. And they've had it again ever since the train left Bangor.

Publicity will always help a legitimate business, just as sunshine will make plants grow.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Mitchell Thinks There Will be No Strike; Operator Differs.

New York, Feb. 25.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, today endorsed the opinion that there will be no general strike of coal miners on April 1, next, which was given out last night by the Indianapolis by Vice President T. L. Lewis, of the mine workers' president.

Mitchell was shown the vice president's statement in which the latter said, in addition to the assertion there will be no general strike in the mining industry April 1, that operators will restore the reduction accepted by the miners two years ago and perhaps more, that an era of peace will be established for another period of years.

After hearing this statement, President Mitchell said:

The pig, naturally, is the cleanest animal in the world, and "Uncle Joe" is one of the cleanest men in public life. The pig is obstinate, and Mr. Cannon can't be made to do a thing he don't want to do. The president and the senate have made this discovery. THE COAL STRIKE.

The statement is made by the first vice president of the United Mine Workers of America that there will be no general strike of the miners in the coal fields of the country April 1, the threatening disturbance having been averted by concessions from the mine owners.

This is good news, indeed. It is to be hoped that the announcement is well advised, and that there will come no subsequent discord to alter its promise of peace.

It must be admitted that nothing that could happen just now would more seriously threaten prosperity than a general strike in the bituminous coal regions. It would strike at the roots of industry almost at once. It would shut down factories, throw men out of employment, curtail their buying powers, reduce trade, and in general would seriously menace business stability.

Announcements have been made by the operators that they have millions of tons of coal ready to tide over a strike, but the country uses millions of tons very quickly, and the supplies on hand would by no means last through a very long struggle.

Coming at the close of winter, and with a long season of warm weather at hand, the effects of an anthracite strike would be by no means so serious as those of a strike in the soft coal regions. Soft coal is used more in the industries than hard coal, and the principal effect of a hard coal strike would be to put up the price of the fuel that warms the nation's homes. A cessation of activity in the soft coal mines, however, would withdraw the source of power from thousands of factories, and its evil effects would be widespread.

The definite announcement that there will be no soft coal strike, therefore, will have a tendency to reassure business interests and to take away from the situation the hovering fear of disaster almost certain to follow such a strike. The news should give an immediate impetus to business activity everywhere.

A QUESTION OF CLOTHES

New York is all torn up because the Waldorf-Astoria has made a new rule barring from its palm room men who come in the evening unadorned with evening clothes.

The custom of wearing evening clothes in the evening has become well-nigh universal in many parts of the country, particularly in New York, but an attempt to enforce such a rule by an innkeeper, no matter if he does conduct one of the flashiest hostilities in the country, is certain to be resented. Indeed, since the order was made public a crowd of young men who habitually wear evening dress came down upon the palm room clad in everyday wear, and defied the hotel authorities to put them out. They were not put out.

Two men who were requested to leave the dining room of the hotel referred to because they were not in conventional evening attire have announced that they are pretty angry about it, and threaten to bring suit against the hotel to recover damages for the indignity thus heaped upon them.

It will be very interesting if they do, to learn what attitude the courts will take of the matter. Of course there is always a possibility that the court will say to these complainants that if they do not like the rules of any particular hotel they have full liberty to boycott it by withdrawing their patronage and going elsewhere. On the other hand, when men go into a hotel in ignorance of such a rule, and are thrown out upon the street like common loafers because they did not happen to wear swallowtail coats, it is not difficult to imagine that they might have a reasonable cause of action.

However, with so many other matters—of minor importance, perhaps—to take up their attention, the vast mass of the people will not consent to lose much sleep over this question. Lots of men who do not possess evening suits also do not care a cent whether they ever eat in the palm room of the Waldorf-Astoria, or whether anybody else ever eats there. In fact, they do not care whether there is a palm room, or even whether there is a Waldorf-Astoria. So long as they are garbed decently and becomingly, and manage to accumulate three meals a day, they will never worry themselves ill over the question of whether they are to eat in swallowtails and snobbish hotels.

A FAULTY TEST.

An Eastern professor in an obscure educational institution is planning a dinner at a New York hotel at which he proposes to prove that people can eat adulterated food without suffering ill effects from it.

Starting with cocktails made of alcohol, saccharin, absinthe and aniline, he will follow up with oyster cocktails made of raw oysters, garnished with laboratory ketchup dyed with aniline. Then there will be soup made from a formula which the professor is not giving out, and the whole will be topped off by cognac made on the spot with alcohol, cozoa oil and sulphuric acid. Into the bowl of fare he intends to put most of the common adulterants and preservatives, and he says his guests will pull through the meal and live.

The Brooklyn Eagle, which tells about it, does not tell about the guests. He cannot give a dinner without guests, and somebody must eat the vile concoctions he is offering. But doubtless he will have no difficulty in inducing somebody to eat with him, even in these circumstances.

The professor probably figures that by this proceeding he is annihilating the whole argument against adulterated foods and drinks, but he is not. His time is wasted. Nobody ever said that one meal of adulterated food would kill or would make people ill. If adulterations were not more cunningly contrived than that they would have poor success. Their deadly work is done in one meal but in many. It is slow poison that is offered by the makers of adulterated and chemically preserved foods, not a quick poison, though the quick poison might in many cases be more merciful, because it does its work in a brief space instead of spreading the torture over months of suffering from stomach and nerve troubles.

Nor does he dispose of the fact that when a manufacturer puts an article of food upon the market labelled so as to make people believe it is nutritious and wholesome, when in fact it is low in nutrition if not positively poisonous, he is guilty of a fraud upon the public. He is getting money under false pretenses. He is guilty of a crime, even if it is only that of theft, and when his goods are used steadily he becomes guilty of murder as well.

The proposed dinner of adulterated foods and drinks will prove nothing, except that adulterations are too ingeniously contrived to kill at once. They are designed to keep the consumer alive a little while longer, so that he may continue to contribute dishonest profits to the manufacturer.

PERTINENT FACTS.

Some pertinent facts touching upon the railroad rate discussion are given in two articles by W. G. Joerns of Duluth in Tom Watson's Magazine for January and February. The first article, "Government Aid to Railroads," shows the enormous grants of land and bonds the government has given to the railroads of the country to encourage their construction, and shows the railroads to be indebted to the people in a way that they have either forgotten or deliberately ignored.

The government has been generous to the railroads, but when most of the giving was done the people were as glad to give as the railroads were to receive. The nation possessed vast areas of lands that were practically valueless, because they were inaccessible. The railroads, by making it possible to reach this land, settle it and bring the produce out to the market, gave the land great value, that remaining in the hands of the people as well as that granted to the roads. It did not seem so unfair then as it does now. It was like the promises and ill-considered donations of free franchises to public utility corporations in the cities of the country. The cities had no water plants, light plants, street railway systems, telephone exchanges, etc., and they wanted them. When somebody came along and offered to build them, the communities fell over themselves to give away priceless privileges the real value of which they are just beginning to appreciate.

Mr. Joerns shows that the grants of land to railroads in this country has approached the enormous total of 250,000,000 acres. Some of this land was valueless, but the railroads have since cunningly contrived to get their poor lands changed for good timber and mineral lands, thus working out of it an enormous additional profit.

The second article, "Railroad Reorganization," shows how the railroads have inflated their capital stocks and their bonds to enormous proportions, upon all of which they now seek to pay dividends. As Mr. Joerns shows, this excess capitalization works evil in two different ways. The first is an accomplished swindle on stockholders and investing public by the sale of prodigiously watered securities. Then, in order to "make good" for the investors, the railroads have used their overloaded capitalization as an artificial base for a continuing swindle on the general public in extortionate rates.

It is ungrateful, to say the least, for the railroads to resent supervision of their rates by a government which has been so bountiful with them, giving them immense areas of land and loaning them bonds to enable them to do their construction work. And it is unfair that the people should be compelled to pay dividends through freight and passenger rates on securities inflated to many times the actual value of the properties they cover.

THE FIELD SURVEY

How would it be, Mr. Standpatter, to try a little protection for the consumer for a change?

A little Lincoln Republicanism and a little Washington patriotism would be great helps in this country today.

It is to be hoped that the Longworth way of wearing the hair will not become fashionable among our young men.

A scientist says that the only safe kind of whisky is the bottled kind. It will certainly harm nobody—so long as it remains bottled.

The Hepburn rate bill will be reported out to the senate without amendment. Now comes the tug of war, with a roll call at the other end of it from which the people can pick out their friends and the railroads theirs.

Congressman Grosvenor, turned out in his old age by his constituency, said some time ago that the revolt against misrepresentative government would soon "blow over." It seems to have blown Grosvenor over, all right.

The Anoka Free Press says that at the age of 20 it is "my country"; at the age of 40 it is "our country"; and at the age of 60 it is "this country." The loss of patriotism implied here would be a sad price to pay for growing old if it were true, but it isn't.

The other states cannot help it if New York and Rhode Island insist on sending train servants to the United States senate, but they can make the other kind of senators so numerous that the New York and Rhode Island kind will have no influence.

The supreme court has decided that railroads cannot deal in the commodities they handle, and everybody will feel good over this blow at the coal trust until a little later when it is discovered that in spite of the supreme court's opinion that they can't, they still do.

President Roosevelt is going to appoint as postmaster at Alexandria, Va., Lawrence Washington, a direct descendant of George Washington's brother John Augustine. Republican politicians of that section, however, propose to fight the appointment because he of the illustrious name and lineage is a Democrat.

It is related that in the Connecticut legislature a member who was approached by somebody who began to talk about a free alcohol measure said, without thinking how it sounded: "Oh, let that wait awhile. I'm so full of free alcohol now that I can't think of anything else." They must have a generous committee on temperance and temperance legislation down in Connecticut, too.

THE WEATHER

A touch of frost in the air yesterday and today made it even more delightful than the soft, rainy condition of the preceding few days. It was not severe, the lowest being 4 degrees above zero, and the highest 20 degrees, but it was clear, fine and full of the zest of living. Cold weather tonight, says the weather man, who expects it to get down to 10 below. Following is the official survey of conditions and the local outlook by H. W. Richardson, the local forecaster:

"Low pressure areas over Oregon, Arkansas and New England states and has caused rain in Oregon and snow or rain over portions of the Missouri valley and North Atlantic states generally. The barometer remains high over the Red River valley, attended by continued dry weather in extreme Northern Minnesota, Western Ontario, the Red River valley and Saskatchewan."

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Taken from the Columns of The Herald of this date in 1886.

"The Onondaga sale is still the leading topic in real estate circles. The report is current that P. H. Kelly has resold the 183½ acres at $175, thus making a profit of $50 an acre—a net gain of $9,375 on the transaction. The property is beyond Grassy Point. Sherwood, who sold the land, is a newspaper man who resides in Ohio. He acquired the property about twenty years ago under the homestead act, and was determined to sell a large lot, if he sold any at all. The land bought from E. H. Hall is northwest of Onondaga proper. Onondaga was a noted place once and may be so again. It was founded by Daniel Morgan, Luke Marvin, Freeman Keene, Ely and others in 1833. It had a population of about 800 people. Morgan & Gray had a sawmill there. J. P. Faine, who is now at the Northern Pacific Junction, also had a saw and shingle mill at Onondaga. Just above Sherwood's property was Milford, a place of about two dozen houses."

"A special agent of the treasury department was recently in Duluth and received from Collector Moore ample data regarding the growth of the city and the needs of a fine new building. A favorable report has been made by the house committee on public buildings which indicates that an appropriation will be made. It is rumored that Thomas Dowse is in Washington in connection with the matter. Some muscular young men, but until the recent visit of Henry Dworshak and Henry Oppel to the state journey at New Ulm, it was not known that a modern Hercules was among their number. Wrestling was a prominent feature of the exercises there and Mr. Oppel, who is scarcely 20 years of age, engaged in bouts with delegates from all parts of the state, in each case flooring his man."

"Timothy Sheehan fell in a fainting fit at the corner of Lake avenue and Superior street yesterday. He was carried into Poirier's store and so revived sufficiently to be taken to his home, where he is resting easily."

"Henry A. Douglass will leave in a few days on a visit to Southern California, where four of his sons are living."

"Miss Little Douglass has returned from a month's visit in the Twin Cities."

"Jon J. P. Thresher of Benton Harbor, Mich., has been spending several days in Duluth and will probably become a permanent resident. He has been favorably mentioned as a candidate for secretary of the new business men's association."

"The Kuykendall house at Superior has changed hands, having been leased by Thomas Horan."

BID FOR THE WHITE CITY

Park Amusement Company Represented at the Committee Meeting.

W. W. Price Says Park Point is Best Site in World.

The "White City" committee is holding a meeting at the Commercial club this afternoon. It is believed that the questions as to whether or not Duluth will have a white city, and, if so, where it will be located and at what expense, will be finally decided today. No doubt is expressed about such a place of amusement being determined upon. It has already been as good as decided that one shall be established here, and the cost of it will probably be fixed at $50,000. Park Point is the favorite site, and will doubtless be selected.

W. W. Price, president of the Park

Amusement Construction company of St. Paul, and Thomas H. Ivey, superintendent for the company, arrived in the city this morning to be present at the meeting. They will make a bid for the contract of building the white city. Mr. Ivey is the man who had in charge the work of building Wonderland at Minneapolis, which last summer paid 50 per cent interest on the original investment. Mr. Price said today that his company would prefer taking a controlling interest in the park, but, if it is desired to keep all the stock in Duluth, he will be content to land the contract for building it.

ture of $50,000 would be sufficient. We can put up a very good place of amusement for that amount, and put the backers in line to secure some first-class attractions.

"One of the features planned is an electric tower 125 feet in height, while the tower at Minneapolis is 100 feet high. If the government has no objections we will put a revolving searchlight on top of the tower, which will light up the lake and bay for miles around. There is no place in the world where a searchlight could be used to better advantage, and there is no sight in the world, to my notion, which offers such advantages for the location of the white city as does Park Point. All talk of putting it on top of the hill or anywhere else is utterly absurd, and should be given no consideration. The Point offers better opportunities than are enjoyed by any other such place of amusement in the United States.

"A white city should be a paying proposition in Duluth. I believe it will half pay for itself the first season. That is a very conservative estimate."

THE JURY DISAGREED

In Case of James A. Martin, Charged With Violating Game Law.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Saturday James Amos Martin of Winton was brought before Justice Pendegast on complaint of Game Warden Rutledge to answer to the charge of having in his possession part of the carcass and the hide of a deer out of season. The arrest and trial of Martin was the outcome of a recent case against George Bess, a migratory resident of Winton, who was arrested on the same charge on Dec. 25. Martin was wanted by the state as a material witness in the Bess case, but he left for parts unknown and avoided service of the subpoena upon him, until the state was compelled to dismiss the case against Bess, as Martin's testimony was necessary to establish a case. Martin put in an appearance after he learned that the Bess case had been dismissed, and as he boasted of having defeated the intentions of the game warden, was arrested, charged with the same offense as Bess. The trial Saturday was a long one, and the jury remained out seven hours, finally reporting a disagreement. The jury was discharged and the case will be brought up again today.

REV. H. S. WEBSTER GOES TO CHICAGO

Rector of St. John's to Go to Church of Transfiguration.

Rev. H. S. Webster, rector of St. John's Episcopal church at Lakeside, has resigned his charge here and will shortly move to Chicago with his family, to become rector of the Church of Transfiguration there. Mr. Webster received the offer from the Chicago congregation some little time ago and determined to accept it. However, he did not say anything about the matter until Bishop Morrison of the Duluth diocese returned to Duluth, and then laid the matter before that prelate. Bishop Morrison regretted to lose Mr. Webster, who has been a very efficient rector for the Lakeside mission, but could not stand in his way of accepting the Chicago offer.

Therefore the resignation of Mr. Webster was announced yesterday, to take effect April 1. He and his family will leave here at that time for Chicago, as the new charge becomes effective on that date.

The congregation of which Mr. Webster has charge in Duluth is classed only as a mission and is not an organized church. The Church of Transfiguration of Chicago is an organized church and a much larger charge than the one of which Mr. Webster is now rector.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A belated wedding present, which was sent to Miss Alice Roosevelt from Grand Rapids, was a magnificently mounted deer head. The head was presented by John G. Greenway, superintendent of the Bovey iron mines, and was a frank—a splendid specimen, one of the finest that ever left the state, and cost $25. Mr. Greenway was a member of the Roosevelt Rough Riders and has for many years been a close personal friend of the Roosevelt family.

All the other officers will be candidates for re-election. J. S. Hopkins for treasurer, F. M. Butler for recorder, J. E. Riley for trustee. A second trustee has not yet been named, and probably will not be until the caucus meets. Frank Taber, who was village president several terms, has been asked to run again but refuses. Messrs. Shank, Butler and Gilpatrick form the caucus committee and they will call a caucus soon.

STANDARD IS RAISED

More Than 50 Per Cent of Teachers Pass Examination.

Those Who Receive First and Second Grade Certificates.

Thirty-five out of the sixty-three teachers who were examined for state first grade and second grade certificates in January were successful, according to the reports now in the hands of S. W. Gilpin, superintendent of schools.

This showing is regarded as good for the reason that only 32 per cent of the teachers passed the state examination held a year ago, while this year the percentage of successful teachers was raised to over 50 per cent.

The markings received by Mr. Gilpin indicate those who have received the first grade certificate complete, a conditional first grade certificate, a second grade certificate complete and a conditional second grade certificate.

A first grade certificate can be issued only to a person who has taught twelve months and who passes the examination in every subject. It holds good for a period of five years.

A conditional first grade certificate is issued where the applicant has taught the required twelve months, but fails in one subject at the examination.

A second grade certificate may be issued to persons who have taught five months and who pass the examination in all subjects. A conditional second grade certificate is issued to persons who have taught five months but who fail in one subject at the examination.

Following is the list of teachers who received certificates:

First grade—Jessie Perham, Eveleth; Julia Haber, Duluth; Iva Brist, Hibbing.

Conditional first grade—Emilia

Thompson, Virginia; Florence L. Mallama, Aurora; Marvin O. West, Virginia.

Second grade—Pearl Heath, Floodwood; Madeline Wallen, Kenton, Mich.; F. T. Tracy, Sparta; Mathilde Hancock, Virginia; Laura M. Scott, Eveleth; Elizabeth C. Maloney, Winton; Mary Mahony, Aurora; Beatrice Lecky, Duluth; Mary E. Hammel, Duluth; Kathryn Godfrey, Hibbing; Laura M. Davis, Proctor; Julia K. Costin, Hibbing; Mate Colopy, Duluth; Isabel Bjork, Duluth.

Conditional second grade—Nora Morgan, Hibbing; Cornelia Weisenmiller, McKinley; Lulu Hockridge, Duluth; Bessie R. Harsh, Duluth; Olga A. Hanna, Virginia; Mabel M. Goodfellow, Duluth; Fannie B. Cunningham, Eveleth.

Limited second grade—Sophia Thomas, Duluth; Caroline O'Donahue, Tower; Julia M. Nelson, Arnold; Carmen Miller, Duluth; Julia Mahoney, Virginia; Anna V. Carlson, Arnold.

A limited second grade is issued to persons who pass the examination in all subjects, but who have never taught.

Teachers who have passed the state examination and who have already secured certificates are privileged to write on any subject at subsequent examinations with a view of raising their standing. Several did so at the examination held in January. Those who raised their standing were Ira K. Rohrer, Eveleth; H. Graham, Aurora; Jennie Sturdivant, Buhl; and Alberta Mallman, Duluth.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Roy Mendel, who three weeks ago shot and instantly killed Mrs. Eva Kinney because she refused to marry him, and then twice shot himself, died Sunday night in the hospital at Dayton, Ohio, of cerebral hemorrhage.

While fighting to keep back the flood waters of Lake Superior, a fire broke out in the engine house at the foot of the road, three laborers were drowned Sunday. A big stretch of track is ready good for a period of five years.

A force fire in one of the buildings of the P. & M. Manufacturing company, began at the automobile, at Buffalo, N. Y., destroyed half a dozen high-priced touring cars and a hundred car bodies.

Cupid Busy on Stage.

Carl Mattson, the Minneapolis wrestler, sort of a student of the sport of the Kelly & Woods company, who was at the Duluth police last week, was quietly married at the Lenox Saturday. Judge Cutting performed the ceremony. The company began two weeks ago in Minneapolis, where Mattson did wrestling stunts for the company. Mrs. Mattson will probably remain with the company the balance of the season and then give up the stage for a home with her husband in Minneapolis.

TELLS ABOUT NEW LEAGUE

Secretary Glass Writes of Prospects for Coming Season.

Is Enthusiastic Believer in Success of the New Organization.

At the request of The Herald, Percy H. Glass, the secretary of the newly organized Copper Country league, has prepared a statement of the prospects of the new association, which is given below:

"The announcement of Duluth and Superior joining the Copper Country league has been viewed with more or less enthusiasm at this end of the river, and no doubt with much interest to the Duluth and Superior end. The joining of these two localities is the reasonable result of business interest locally and otherwise. It cuts down mileage and makes a compact circuit, so much so that 1906 should and will be a banner year in baseball.

First, for the reason that it will add new life to all the towns concerned, and in starting out the new league, will be governed by the expressed will of three leagues have passed through.

In reviewing the past of the old Copper Country league, we originally had four towns, and were playing under a much higher salary than the Northern league last year, but unfortunately we lost the services of the Duluth team, and that city was destroyed in the spring, and that was the end of the street car communication from that end. The end of the year found Calumet, Hancock and Lake Linden finishing the season by special permission of J. H. Farrell, National secretary.

An indoor rifle league will be organized Wednesday night at the Armory. Maj. E. Reschke of the "Third" regiment has asked all interested in the sport to meet that evening for the purpose of organizing. Members need not be members of the military companies in order to join, but anyone anxious to become proficient in marksmanship is invited.

With the return of cold weather, the Duluth and Superior players will immediately take up their regular practice for the trip to the Copper country, which is planned for next week. The boys are in fine shape for the trip, and hope to make a good showing.

over their reserve list of players, and naturally have a good nucleus to build upon. The Duluth team all carried a high class of players and these are mostly available for this season.

At the regular meeting, which has been called for Friday, March 2, at the Douglas Hotel, the business of organizing and revising the old constitution to more accurately fit the new league will be done.

In general, from the interest taken by the various managers, the outlook for the new organization could not be better, and to the public the league will offer a good, clean business administration, faster and better ball than in the past."

AITKIN TEAM WINS.

Defeats Little Falls High School in Fast Game of Basketball.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 25.—The Aitkin basketball team won from the champion Little Falls team Saturday night by the score of 33 to 12.

Neither of the two teams had met defeat previous to this match, and the Aitkin team was very keen. The winners claim the high school championship of Northern Minnesota, and are prepared to defend the title against all comers.

The feature of the game was the basket throwing of Capt. Spalding and the fast work of Lovell and Lacombe. Butler and Gilmore also did good work at guard.

Sporting Notes.
 Moritz Harris, the Superior wrestler, failed to show up for his match with Gene Cole at the Met, Saturday evening, owing to a cold.

In his place Carl Mattson and Billy Maynard wrestled a fifteen-minute exhibition, which more than made up for the other bout.

The program of ice races planned for Saturday afternoon had to be called off owing to the soft weather and the sloppy track. Interest has been added to the races by the entry of three new horses, owned by C. R. Rust, Dr. J. McKay and Frederick Wolvin, which have just arrived from Chicago.

The Duluth ski riders arrived in the city Saturday afternoon, after their splendid showing at the national tournament at Ishpeming. They deeply regretted the failure of Duluth to land the tournament for next year, but Ashland sent twenty men after it and Duluth sent one.

HOSPITAL IS BURNED.

Bray Hospital at Biwabik Destroyed—Inmates Have Narrow Escape.

Biwabik, Minn., Feb. 26.—The Bray hospital was totally destroyed by fire at 2:45 o'clock yesterday morning, and the inmates narrowly escaped with their lives, being compelled to get out clad only in their night clothes. Two patients were rescued by the volunteer firemen, which was four o'clock, and the hospital was a total loss.

In arranging a schedule this is always figured on. Lake Linden, the smallest town in the league, is a good town, its Saturday and Sunday crowds rivaling the others.

"Monroe, like Hancock and Houghton, is a good town, its Saturday and Sunday crowds rivaling the others. Across the river, and between the two towns, is a good town, its Saturday and Sunday crowds rivaling the others.

TESTIMONY IN DEFENSE

Witnesses for Chief Black Deny Many of the Charges.

Examination of the Chief Himself Will be Held Friday.

The testimony for the defense in the Black investigation was begun Saturday afternoon, and the witnesses denied many of the stories told by witnesses placed on the stand by the prosecution.

Dr. John McKay was called to the stand by Attorney Neff.

"I have not talked with Dr. McKay," said Mr. Neff, "and I do not know what he will say."

"Did you examine four horses sent over by Chief Kellogg of Superior?" asked Mr. Neff.

"What did you say about them?" "I said that I didn't consider two of them typical fire horses," said Mr. Neff.

"What about Kellogg?" "I had trouble getting fire horses at that time and Chief Kellogg brought these up for our inspection," said Mr. Neff.

"In order to get good fire horses you have to pay for them, do you not?" asked Attorney Jonsdahl.

"I looked at over 1,000 last week and bought but one," said the witness.

"How did these horses turn out?" "We afterwards traded one of them for a good horse, and he never met him since that time, until Saturday," said Mr. Neff.

"No," said the witness.

Richard Hall, who was called by Commissioner Hollister, was asked for some light on the manufacture of some harness for the chief in the city's shops.

Mr. Hall stated that he had made three sets of harness in all, one for the chief's boy and two for the chief, and that all the material for it had been purchased either by himself or by the chief.

"All this harness was made at the city shop?" asked Mr. Neff.

"Yes," said the witness.

"With the city's tools?" "No, with my own."

On cross-examination by Mr. Jonsdahl the witness stated that he had done all of the work after his regular hours, and had not neglected the city's work at any time.

"Do you know, as stated here, that Chief Black has been unfair and arbitrary with the men?" asked Mr. Hollister.

"He has not. The statement is untrue."

A. Stoltz, a tailor on Fourth street, was called as a witness by Mr. Neff, to tell of a conversation he had with the chief nearly ten years ago. Mr. Stoltz had a very hazy recollection regarding the conversation in question, but said that he understood the chief to ask for a commission on the suits made for the firemen. He could give no details regarding the conversation, saying that it was so long ago that he had forgotten it almost entirely.

On cross-examination he admitted he could not be sure whether the chief was asking for a commission for himself or for a discount for the men.

"Did you ever pay Chief Black a commission on any suits made for the firemen?" asked Mr. Neff.

"No, sir."

"Did the chief ever buy any clothing from you?" asked Mr. Neff.

"Yes, sir, he bought one or perhaps two suits."

"Did he pay you the regular price you asked without any comment?" asked Mr. Neff.

"Yes, sir."

had heard between Mr. Zimmerman and the chief over the telephone. He said that Mr. Zimmerman was angry because he said he could not sell any horses to the city since the new veterinarian, meaning Dr. McKay had been engaged.

"Mr. Zimmerman said he couldn't see why he couldn't sell horses to the city if they were just as good and as cheap as other horses, and he said he would call the chief up and see why he couldn't," said Capt. Sullivan.

"Didn't he say he would 'show the chief up'?" asked Mr. Neff.

"No, he didn't say that. He said he would see why he didn't get fair treatment."

"Well, didn't you tell me that he said he would show the chief up?" "No, I didn't."

"That's all."

A. H. Smith was summoned to tell of his experience in dealing with the fire department in the sale of feed.

"I object to this," said Mr. Neff. "The commissioners have taken the ground of a law court in ruling out evidence, and I fail to see where this is material at all. It has nothing to do with the charges."

Mr. Hollister said he would sustain the objection, but would let the witness testify on the understanding it had nothing to do with the written charges.

Mr. Smith stated that he had found it harder work to sell to the fire department than to any other customer, and that he never sold them a bushel of oats without losing money.

"Did the chief ever suggest to you that he wanted a commission?" asked Mr. Hollister.

"Never in any manner."

"You have heard the story that your firm sold oats to the department at 2 cents above the market price?" asked Mr. Hollister.

"What did he say about it?" "The man that told Dr. Coddling that story is a liar," said Mr. Smith. "No such man was ever made with our firm. If it was I would know it."

S. W. Hill, the West end clothing merchant, was on the stand to tell about the blue shirt deal.

He testified that he had never met Chief Black until the day he got the contract for the shirts. He said he had gone into a competition to secure the contract, and that he was the lowest bidder. He sold the first lot of shirts to the men for 30 cents and filled later orders at 41 cents.

Mr. Hill absolutely denied that he had any dealings of a secret nature with the chief, and labeled the story as absurd, stating that he did not even know him by sight until the day he went to headquarters to take up a sample shirt, and had never met him since that time, until Saturday.

Milton Doughty, a blacksmith in the department shop, was asked to tell about a survey and a cutter made for the chief in the shop. He said he did not know who made the survey, but that it was work to do, and that he did not know who purchased the material.

E. C. Little, a former fire commissioner, explained this deal. "If there is any blame attaching to anyone in regard to this survey and cutter," said Mr. Little, "it is to the fire board. The work was done with the full permission and knowledge of the board, and the survey was used by the board in its trips of inspection."

"I saw in the papers that unfairness was charged in the promotion of Capt. Wilson. I was a member of the civil service board at the time, and as far as I know, the markings of Capt. Wilson were fair and just, and he passed the physical test."

"I also saw that the chief sold some razors and strops. I bought one of those and it was well worth the money. It seems absurd to take up the board's time with such matters as that."

"I don't think it is absurd," said Mr. Neff. "For the chief to sell razors to the men."

Capt. McDonald was sworn and questioned by Mr. Hollister.

"Herman Wendland testified here that you overheard a conversation between the chief and Dr. McKay regarding some horses bought from Chief Kellogg," said Mr. Hollister.

"I don't remember any such conversation," said the witness.

C. R. Rust of the Stone-Ordean-Weils company testified that he had had many dealings with Chief Black in horses, and that he had never sold him any for more than a fair market price, and that he had never paid the chief any commissions.

At 5:30 p. m., Mr. Neff asked for an adjournment as he was compelled to leave for Dakota. At 5 o'clock.

Mr. Jonsdahl vigorously objected, claiming that the hearing was left in a side room, and that the chief had a right to clear himself at once in the eyes of the public.

It was finally agreed that an adjournment should be taken until Friday evening.

DEATH CALLS AGED PIONEER

Ernest Miller, Well Known Resident of Duluth, Stricken.

Ernest Miller, an old and well known resident of Duluth, died Saturday night at his home, 122 Levee street, of illness of four months.

Mr. Miller had lived here almost continuously since 1871, and had hosts of friends not only at the head of the lake, but in the northwestern states of Iowa and Wisconsin. For years he was a dealer in stock, and one of the best business men of his time.

When Mr. Miller died, he was 85 years of age, and had been in the city since 1871. He was a native of Germany in 1836 and came to America in 1850, with his parents. He studied at St. Paul and was a member of the German American club, an organization of amateur theatricals.

Mr. Miller and his family moved to Duluth from Minneapolis in 1871, and, except for two years spent in California, made this city their home up to the time of his death. He took great interest in the growth of the city and was a prominent member of the Duluth Turnverein, which was quite an active society some years ago, and of the German Dramatic club, an organization of amateur theatricals.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2, at the family residence on Levee street. The interment will take place at Forest Hill.

AN Appeal

To Be Fair to Yourself—To Learn by a Test What Liquezone Means to You—The First Bottle is Free.

To you who are sick and are waiting—this appeal is to you. An appeal to be fair with yourself.

Don't think that the help which you need is impossible, because common remedies fail as they must fail in germ troubles. Please send us this coupon and learn, at our expense, how much a new remedy means to you.

In the past two years, millions of people have begun to use Liquezone. To-day there are countless cured ones, scattered over half the world, telling what it has done. We ask you to learn its wonderful power as they did. Let us buy you a bottle to try.

What Liquezone Is.

The virtues of Liquezone are derived solely from gases, created from five substances, all of which are stated on the bottle. These substances include the best producers of oxygen, sulphur dioxide and other germicidal gases.

The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time; and it is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry their virtues into the system. The result is a blending of gas-made products, each of which is now endorsed, as a remedial agent, by the world's highest authorities.

The gases are harmless, and the product they create is harmless. The gases are beneficial, and the result is a tonic. The gases are germicidal, and uniting with the blood multiplies their germ-killing power.

Liquezone contains no alcohol, no opiates, no narcotics. Every virtue comes from gas alone. The invention of Liquezone has meant a way to utilize gases in the treatment of germ diseases.

Kills Disease Germs.
 The main value of Liquezone lies in the fact that it is deadly to germs, yet helpful to bodily tissues. It is a germicide so certain that we publish with every bottle an offer of $1,000 for the discovery of a disease germ which Liquezone cannot kill.

Common germicides are poisons which cannot be taken internally. They destroy the tissues as well as the germs. That is why medicine has proved so helpless in

The Rainy Lake Road Extension Papers Are Ready.

Will Build to Duluth—Is Related to the Port Arthur Line.

The contract for the construction of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg road from Nashua, Minn., its present northern terminus, to Beaudette, on the border, will, it is understood, be signed either this afternoon or tomorrow. There are several bidders for the work, and officials of the company have given out no hint as to whom will be awarded the contract. Work will be started on the extension as soon as weather conditions permit, and will be rushed to completion.

Further developments appear to indicate that The Herald was correct recently in stating that the Rainy Lake Road extension would be built to the border and to Duluth from Virginia, the most southern point of the line. While the southern extension will not be built as soon as the other, it is believed, there seems to be no doubt that it will be constructed, thus giving Duluth direct rail connection over the one road to Beaudette and from there to Winnipeg over the Canadian Northern. The second extension may not be built before the season of 1907, but it is reported on the best authority that it will be built within two years' time at the outside.

The latest reports are to the effect that some relation exists between the Rainy Lake road and the proposed Canadian Northern extension from Gun Flint lake, in Cook county, to points in St. Louis county. The latter road is said to have been surveyed to Highland, on the Duluth & Iron Range, and there is a thought likely that the latter will be used, the ultimate intention being to extend the line still farther, to Virginia, Minn., where it will connect with the Rainy Lake road.

When the extension of the latter to Duluth is completed, an arrangement would allow the operation of trains over the Rainy Lake and Canadian Northern lines to Winnipeg and Port Arthur as well. It has been officially announced that through trains will be run between Duluth and Winnipeg, and, as the same companies are involved in the other instance, it is probable that the traffic agreement will be arrived at whereby the Duluth & Iron Range will be given access to Duluth by way of the Gun Flint lake extension, Ely, Virginia, and the Rainy Lake road. This, on its face, is a simpler plan than building from Gun Flint lake to Highland.

REVISED CODE IS PUBLISHED
 Governor Johnson Has a Copy of Much Talked of Book.

St. Paul, Feb. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The revised code is out. One copy of the much talked of book was placed on the desk of Governor Johnson late Saturday afternoon. The others, the commission announces, will be issued as fast as the printers can turn them out.

The book, a fairly well printed volume, of about 1,400 pages, is not unlike other legal volumes, except that the volumes so far produced have covers of manila paper, instead of sheepskin. From now on, however, the code will be in more substantial binding.

What catches the eye first, as far as the title page is concerned, is the name of the editor, Mark Dummell, while the names of the commission in charge are conspicuous for their absence.

MARRIAGE LEGAL
 Although There Was Neither Church or Civil Ceremony.

London, Feb. 22.—The divorce court today held that a marriage "by habit and repute," contracted at St. Paul, Minn., without either church or civil ceremony, must be considered legal in England. A question arose regarding the legitimacy of the son of Alfred and Ida Newman, who lived as man and wife before Judge Windom this afternoon and was fined $10 and costs with the alternative of spending ten days in jail.

Mr. Norton's case was the second one today. Thomas Thatcher having been arrested and fined this morning for selling adulterated apricot jam.

KEPT OVERCOAT AS SECURITY
 Saloonkeeper Fined for Taking Clothes From Woodsman's Back.

Lewis Kallang, a saloonkeeper whose place of business is located at 411 West Michigan street, was fined $15 and costs by Judge Windom this afternoon on the charge of assault.

A woodsman entered Kallang's saloon Saturday afternoon and ordered a drink for himself and his companion. He had no money to pay for them, and when he started for the door, Kallang sprang after him and seized him by the collar. He jerked him to the floor and pulled off his coat and hat which he placed behind the bar as security for the whisky. The woodsman was intoxicated at the time, and in falling cut his head open.

"Your $1,000 license doesn't give you a right to take a man's overcoat off his back," said the prosecuting attorney.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING

Later Cable From Consul Gives More Light on Missionaries.

Washington, Feb. 22.—A later cablegram from Mr. Rodgers says that the reports of the Nanchang trouble are conflicting. It is now reported to have originated in a dispute between the French Jesuits and Chinese officials. A Chinese magistrate was at first reported to have been stabbed by a Catholic missionary, but it is now claimed that the magistrate stabbed himself. In the riot which occurred yesterday six Jesuits and two members of the Kingman family were killed. Chinese troops were protecting. The refugees are going to Kukiang. The American mission building is understood to have been saved and order is now restored. Mr. Rodgers adds that all is quiet in Shanghai.

COLLIERS PAY THE EXPENSES

Incur in the Prosecution of Col. W. D. Mann for Perjury.

New York, Feb. 22.—Robert J. Collier, publisher of Collier's Weekly, went on the witness stand today in the hearing of Col. W. D. Mann, editor of Town Topics, on a charge of perjury. This charge grew out of the sensational libel suit brought recently against Norman P. Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, and which was decided for Mr. Hapgood. Mr. Collier said that he and his father, Peter F. Collier, expect to pay the expenses of the prosecution of Col. Mann.

"Would it surprise you to know that this proceeding will cost you more than $100,000?" asked Mr. Littleton, counsel for Col. Mann.

"No, I would not be surprised. We would not mind if it cost twice that amount," answered the witness.

Mr. Collier said he expected to reimburse the city, through the district attorney's office, for all the money spent for handwriting experts and other witnesses.

His paper began its attacks on Col. Mann in 1904, he said, following the publication in Town Topics of an article reflecting on the private life and social career of his father, P. F. Collier. He said also that ever since that article appeared he and his father had been waiting for the opportunity which was furnished last summer by the arrest of Charles Ahle, on a charge of attempting to blackmail Edward M. Post, a broker.

Mr. Collier said that since he began actively following up the charges against Mann, he has had for this purpose, an office at 73 Broadway separate from the office of Collier's Weekly.

SHOE COLORS.

White leather is displayed by several tanners for a fall for 1906, says the Shoe Retailer. It is known as chrome white, pearl white, electric pearl and other names. The average man would probably call it a pearl white. While tanners say that they have no fear that the popularity of white canvas goods will cut into their trade, yet they are putting out this white leather to compete with canvas. Being a new fashion they will be quoted high at first.

An oze leather that will stand rough wear even on rainy days and can be cleaned up to look like new, is a novelty which one firm expects to soon place on the market. This leather is intended both for footwear and for clothing. It can be made in any shade. The call for bright red leather has tripled in one location, tanner.

White leather is displayed by several tanners for a fall for 1906, says the Shoe Retailer. It is known as chrome white, pearl white, electric pearl and other names. The average man would probably call it a pearl white. While tanners say that they have no fear that the popularity of white canvas goods will cut into their trade, yet they are putting out this white leather to compete with canvas. Being a new fashion they will be quoted high at first.

An oze leather that will stand rough wear even on rainy days and can be cleaned up to look like new, is a novelty which one firm expects to soon place on the market. This leather is intended both for footwear and for clothing. It can be made in any shade. The call for bright red leather has tripled in one location, tanner.

DOES NOT WANT WAR

But Germany Will Not Modify Her Attitude Towards Morocco.

Russia is Trying Hard to Prevent an open Rupture.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—Russia is using all her influence in Paris to prevent a rupture between France and Germany. Her action has been taken at the instance of Paris, where the Rouvier government is apparently convinced that Germany proposes to persist in her attitude even to the point of provoking war. On account of the close relations existing between the courts of Berlin and St. Petersburg, it is believed in France that Russia will have more influence on Emperor William than any other power. Highest representations in favor of concussions without an appeal to arms were accordingly made to which Germany replied that she had no desire to provoke war. Nevertheless she gave no indication that she proposed to modify her attitude and Russia's latest advices from Algiers indicate that practically all hope of an agreement has been abandoned. Although Count Cassini, head of the Russian mission, reports that the conference will be fruitless, he expresses a decided opinion that hostilities will not result. Russia is much concerned about the situation, as war between France and Germany would greatly embarrass her. Not only is the Russian government so engrossed with the interior situation as not to be in a position to offer aid to her ally, but war would end the possibility of contracting another loan in Paris, of which Russia is in urgent need.

Premier Witte has now become a distinct advocate of an Anglo-Russian understanding and it is understood that negotiations have been or are about to be reopened in London to determine the status of this agreement. If they are successful, a new grouping of the powers will undoubtedly check Germany's ambitions. The main obstacle to an understanding is the dispute regarding the respective spheres of influence of Russia and Great Britain in Persia, as the Russians are loath to abandon their plans for reaching the Persian gulf.

OPERATORS ARE CALLED

To Try and Arrange Some Means to Prevent Miners' Strike.

New Conference is Due to Letter Written by President.

Pittsburg, Feb. 27.—Acting on the advice of President Roosevelt, many known through letters to International President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, and Chairman Francis L. Robbins of the Pittsburg Coal company and leader of the bituminous coal operators, the latter has called a conference in this city tomorrow of operators' committees who are members of the interstate agreement in an endeavor to arrange some means of preventing a strike of the bituminous coal miners on April 1. In reply to President Roosevelt's letter published today, Mr. Robbins sent the following to Washington:

"Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, Washington: Dear Sir—I found your letter on my return from New York this morning. Have asked operators' committees of the interstate agreement to meet here tomorrow to consider the question of a conference with the miners. Will advise you of result tomorrow. Very respectfully, FRANCIS L. ROBBINS."

New York, Feb. 27.—Negotiations for the settlement of the dispute between the anthracite coal miners and operators have been resumed between the sub-committees representing the two sides in the controversy. This announcement was made today at President Mitchell's headquarters by a member of the national executive committee of the miners. The sub-committee representing the miners completed formulating its demands at the end of last week and forwarded them to George F. Baer, president of the Reading Coal and Iron company and head of the anthracite operators' sub-committee. District President Nicholas announced today that the miners' sub-committee will meet this afternoon at the Ashland house.

Cattle company, recently convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government by means of illegal home-steader entries. The judge then sentenced the prisoner to imprisonment for one year in the county jail at this place and to pay a fine of $1,000. An appeal will be taken. Ware has been for many years pastor of the Episcopal church at Lead and Deadwood, S. D.

Boycott in China Has Greatly Encouraged Anti-Foreign Feeling.

Revolutionists Are About Ready to Try Conclusions With Dynasty.

Manila, Feb. 27.—The battleship Ohio, flagship of the American fleet on the Asiatic station, will leave in a few days for the Chinese coast.

A leading American firm in this city has received the following cable from Canton:

"The boycott has greatly encouraged the anti-foreign feeling. Teachers, reformers, agitators and the native newspapers now have the power of that association behind them, causing a remarkable growth in the reform party and secret societies, while the anti-foreign, anti-dynastic victory of Canton, by its autocratic ruling and its antagonistic attitude to the foreign consuls, encourages the masses of the people in their anti-foreign feeling."

"In the prefecture of Chiang Chow, near Amoy, recent outrages against foreign church procedure approved by the Chinese government, between the Yangtze valley and the Hongkong district, a dangerous anti-foreign feeling exists, which is likely to break out at any moment."

"The federal troops here are preparing against the pending outbreak."

A MURDERER DIES SUDDENLY

About to Leave Train When He Falls Back Dead.

Ronoke, Va., Feb. 27.—R. L. Traynham was arrested here last night charged with the murder of his father. The feeling here is very bitter against young Traynham and it was thought advisable to take him to Lynchburg for safe keeping. Just as the train was entering the latter city, Traynham arose from his seat and with an exclamation fell back in the arms of Officer Overstreet. When he was taken from the train he was found to be dead. Whether it was suicide or heart failure is not known.

TWO $50,000 BONDS STOLEN FROM TRAIN.

Altoona, Pa., Feb. 27.—A suit case containing two bonds, Nos. 157 and 158, of the Central railroad of Pennsylvania, each for $50,000 and belonging to Ex-Congressman James Kerr, the Clearfield coal operator, was stolen recently from a Pennsylvania train. Detectives today located the case, minus the bonds at the boarding house of Charles Gatto, an Italian at Retrot. Gatto was arrested.

WEAK ON UNITED STATES HISTORY

Largest Percentage of Failures in Teachers' Examinations.

St. Paul, Feb. 27.—Following the reading of 2,148 examination papers, State Superintendent Olson yesterday began the distribution of certificates to teachers. In all, 5,107 persons participated, and of this number 2,335 will get the much-sought-for permits to teach. On its face this looks like a heavy percentage of failures, but it is not, as a large number of the participants took the examination simply for the purpose of securing standing on some one subject. They did not compete for a certificate.

Of the certificates issued, 176 were complete first grades, 91 conditional first grades, 1,076 complete second grades, 351 conditional second grades, and 551 conditional certificates.

In all, seventeen subjects were covered, and the number of failures and success in each are of interest. The list just compiled shows the following:

Subject	Passed	Failed	Total
Arithmetic	2,225	885	3,110

IGNORES OLD INFLUENCES

Czar Wrenches Himself Free From the Reactionary Element.

Sets at Naught the Opinions and Desires of Cabinet.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—The ukase convoking the national assembly for May 10, which was issued against the desires of the cabinet and large majority of the council, of the empire, his majesty has rejected the proposed law providing for the extension of the trial by court-martial for political offences to all parts of the empire which was the cause of M. Timiriazoff leaving the cabinet and accepting the view of the minority that there is no justification for such a law in a constitutional state during the elections to parliament. The emperor also rejected the project authorizing the troops to fire "if they are insulted" and forbidding the firing of volleys of blank cartridges during street disturbances.

With the exception of the Novoe Vremya the Russian press, which seems constitutionally unable to give the government credit for any sincerity of good intentions, receives the national assembly ukase with coolness, even mistrust. The Novoe Vremya today heads its issue with the date and the title in poster type extending across the first page, and declares it will be the day of the rejuvenation of the country, which Russia will hail with great gladness.

The Slovo comments doubtfully on the announcement, but admits it is not quite probable that the national assembly will meet.

The passengers who owned the bread and eggs shared with their fellow sufferers and those who were unable to enjoy raw eggs went hungry. Nineteen men and five women were aboard the car, which became stalled during the blizzard. By night fall some of the more courageous floundered two miles through the snow to Clayton. The others told stories through the night and were rescued by a snow plow this morning.

Patrick Boyd, a local detective, has been working on the case. He found Nelson was in the habit of going to Milwaukee and spending more money than a salary of $25 a month would warrant. After being taken to jail the boy broke down and confessed. He is a son of Martin Nelson, a local saloonkeeper.

CROMWELL FINALLY SAYS THE PANAMA ROAD PAID HIM OVER $200,000

WILLIAM NELSON CROMWELL

MINNESOTANS DEPOSITORS

In Fraudulent People's United States Bank of St. Louis.

Washington, Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committee on post-offices and post roads today decided to report favorably on the Crumpacker resolution, which calls upon the postoffice department for full information, as to the operations of the People's United States Bank of St. Louis, which concern was barred from the use of the mails. They were attempting to do a banking business by mail and it was alleged it was a fraudulent proposition.

Representative Stenerson of Minnesota, who is a member of the committee, said today that evidently a great many people in Minnesota had been depositors with the People's United States Bank of St. Louis, as he had received a number of letters from persons in his and other Minnesota districts, making inquiry regarding the affairs of the alleged bank.

PATRICK WITNESS ADMITS PERJURY.

New York, Feb. 27.—Joseph Jordan, one of the Texas witnesses who has given testimony in the hearing for the new trial for Albert T. Patrick, convicted murderer, has confessed that he committed perjury on the witness stand, according to an announcement made by District Attorney Jerome when the hearing was resumed. Jordan was arrested last night on the perjury charge. On the stand Jordan denied he had served a term of imprisonment at Huntsville, Tex. In his confession, the district attorney said today, Jordan admitted that he did serve a term at Huntsville.

POLICEMEN INVOLVED

In Death of Gerdron, Who Was Shot by Berthe Claiche.

Alleged That Officers Aided Girl, Promising Her Immunity.

New York, Feb. 27.—An unusual situation, temporarily overshadowing the real issue in the case, confronted the court and jury when the trial of Bertha Claiche for the murder of Emil Gerdron was resumed in the criminal branch of the supreme court today. This was the inquiry into the part which certain policemen are alleged to have had in Gerdron's death. Charges were made at the opening of the trial yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Ely that two members of the police force aided the girl in her deed and promised her immunity. The largest part of the opening day was spent investigating this phase of the case. Mr. Ely brought out evidence that a letter was sent to Gerdron before his death, and that after it $800 was reported to have been stolen from the body. Although he obtained no evidence to show who wrote the letter or took the money, the prosecutor charged that policemen were responsible in both cases and that by the letter Gerdron was lured to the place where he was shot while under arrest.

Bertha Claiche, herself, apparently, had only a minor part in the first day's proceedings except as a spectator. She frequently appeared to be greatly distressed, especially during the prosecutor's arraignment of the policemen.

ROYALTY MARRIED

Prince Eitel and Duchess Sophie Are Made Man and Wife.

Ceremony Performed at Palace in the Presence of 500 Guests.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—The Duchess Sophie of Oldenburg, daughter of the reigning grand duke of Oldenburg by his first marriage with Princess Elizabeth of Prussia, and Prince Eitel Frederick, the second son of the emperor and empress, were married at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of the palace by the court chaplain, Dr. Dryander. It was falling on the chapel dome, but the inside was lit by hundreds of candles, showing the elegant costumes or uniforms of about 500 persons belonging to the royal families of Germany or the principal nobility, the cabinet ministers and a number of generals and admirals. Ambassador Tover and Mrs. Tover were in the diplomatic circle.

CERTIFICATES WERE FORGED

Were Given La Crosse Man in Payment for Expenses to Coast.

Salem, Or., Feb. 27.—Fifteen forged land certificates of Oregon school lands were presented to the state land department yesterday, covering 4,800 acres of land in Southern Oregon. These certificates purport to have been issued in 1902 and are presented in behalf of Frank T. Toland of La Crosse, Wis. Toland, it is alleged, was brought out from Wisconsin by the defendants in the recent government land fraud trials at Portland to controvert the evidence of the prosecution. It is understood here that the certificates were given Toland to recompense him for expenses incident to his appearance at the trials.

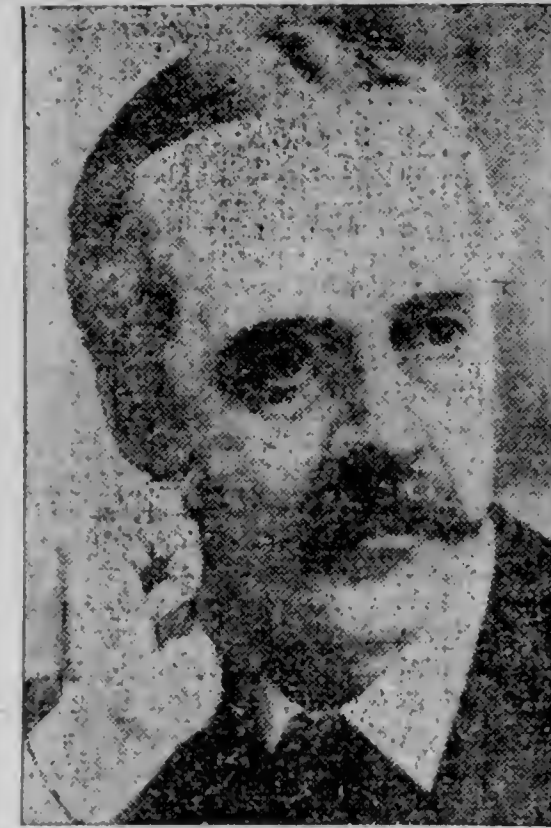

LOUISVILLE THEATER CASES ARE DISMISSED.

Louisville, Feb. 27.—In the police court yesterday Judge McCann dismissed the cases against the managers and employees of the three theaters who were arrested for violations of the Sunday closing law. In his opinion Judge McCann held that the singing out of three theaters was discrimination. He also stated he was not passing upon the validity of the Sunday closing law as that was not properly brought before him. To make a law of the law, Judge McCann said it would be necessary to show that the law was really meant to be enforced and not to discriminate against a certain class of alleged offenders.

BALFOUR IS ILL ON ELECTION DAY

Former Premier Ordered to Stay at Home at Exciting Moment.

London, Feb. 27.—The bye election in the city of London to decide whether or not former Premier Balfour shall return immediately to parliament has been robbed of much of its expected excitement by the illness of Mr. Balfour, whose doctor has ordered him to remain in bed. Mr. Balfour's health has not been satisfactory for some time and is complicated by weakness of the heart. Yesterday evening after a meeting in the city he suffered from an over friendly buffet of the part of the great crowd of people who desired to shake hands with him. The doctor cancelled all the former premier's engagements.

The result of the election will be announced today.

TWO BIG OBSTACLES.

DOES NOT WANT WAR

But Germany Will Not Modify Her Attitude Towards Morocco. Russia is Trying Hard to Prevent an open Rupture.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—Russia is using all her influence at Berlin to prevent a rupture between France and Germany. Her action has been taken at the instance of Paris, where the Rouvier government is apparently convinced that Germany proposes to persist in her attitude even to the point of provoking war. On account of the close relations existing between the courts of Berlin and St. Petersburg it is believed in France that Russia will have more influence on Emperor William than any other power. Latest representations in favor of concessions without an appeal to arms were accordingly made to which Germany replied that she had no desire to provoke war. Nevertheless she gave no indication that she proposed to modify her attitude and Russia's latest advice from Algeiras indicate that practically all hope of an agreement has been abandoned. Although Count Cassini, head of the Russian mission, reports that the conference will be fruitless, he expresses a decided opinion that hostilities will not result. Russia is much concerned about the situation, as war between France and Germany would greatly embarrass her. Not only is the Russian government so engrossed with the interior situation as not to be in a position to offer aid to ally, but war would end the possibility of contracting another loan in Paris, of which Russia is in urgent need.

Premier Witte has now become a distinct advocate of an Anglo-Russian understanding and it is understood that negotiations have been or are about to be reopened in London to determine the status of this agreement. If they are successful, a new grouping of the powers will undoubtedly check Germany's ambitions. The main obstacle to an understanding at this time is the respective spheres of influence of Russia and Great Britain in Persia, as the Russians are loath to abandon their plans for reaching the Persian gulf.

Sets at Naught the Opinions and Desires of Cabinet.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—The ukase convoking the national assembly for May 10, which was issued against the desires of the reactionary element at court has been followed by further strong evidence that the emperor has wrenched himself free from the old influences. Setting at naught the opinion of the cabinet and large majority of the council, of the empire, his majesty has rejected the proposed law providing for the extension of the trial by courtmartial for political offences to all parts of the empire which was the cause of M. ROUNDS OUT LONG LIFE

Judge Phineas Ayer
Passes Away at Ripe
Old Age.

Classmate of Joseph Choate, and Former Boston Bar Leader.

Judge Phineas Ayer, one of the most familiar figures in Duluth, died this morning at St. Luke's hospital. Judge Ayer was 75 years of age, and death was due to a general debility brought on by his advanced years. His life was one long struggle against ill health. From the time he left college he had never known what it was to be in robust health, but he outlived many of his old friends who were apparently stronger and more hearty than himself.

He had been very weak for several months previous to his death, and had been confined to the hospital for nearly a month.

Judge Ayer was for twelve years judge of probate for St. Louis county, and has long been a prominent figure in and around Duluth. During the last few years of his life he has not been able to engage in active practice, and has confined his attention largely to probate work, with which branch of the law he was very familiar.

He was born in May, 1830, at Haverhill, N. H., and graduated from Dartmouth college in 1852. He read law under Judge Bellows, afterwards chief justice of the United States supreme court, and graduated from Harvard law school in 1854. The class of '54 was one of Harvard's most distinguished classes among the members being Joseph H. Choate, Judge Ayer was always extremely proud of his college and his class, and frequently spoke of the noted men with whom he had the honor to study in his early days.

After leaving law, he took up the practice of law in Boston, and worked up a splendid business, at one time being one of the leading members of the bar in that city.

In 1872 his health forced him to seek a change, and he came to Chicago, hanging out his shingle there in 1872. He was married to Miss Lewis there in 1879 and came to Duluth in 1883.

His wife died about four years ago, and since that time he has been practically alone in the city, having no relatives here. A stepdaughter, Mrs. Richards, lives at Spooner, Wis., and is now in the city attending to the funeral arrangements.

Judge Ayer was a member of Lone Lodge, No. 80, A. F. & A. M., and his brother Masons will have charge of the funeral services.

He has been living at 621 East Fourth street.

Many interesting anecdotes can be related by friends with whom he has been intimate during the last few years. His fond of relating stories of the early days in New England and of his young manhood who had later turned out to be good men. At one time in his youth he shipped upon a whaling vessel for the benefit of his health, and had a most interesting and eventful cruise.

Since the death of his wife his years have been lonely. He grew grim, morose and melancholy at times and appeared to be suffering grievously over her death. While he had a large circle of friends in the city, he had no intimate relatives here.

His life appeared at times to affect him deeply, although he never showed it to any but his most intimate friends.

WILL HAVE MANY ROAD HEARINGS

County Board Meeting Will Occur Wednesday Next Week.

The next meeting of the board of county commissioners will occur Wednesday, March 7. It is expected that the board will at that time take up its routine business and such other matters as may come before it. Quite a number of road hearings have been set for March 7 and road committees comprised of commissioners have been quite busy this month looking over proposed routes. At the hearings all persons interested in the proposed roads either for or against, are given the privilege of expressing their views before the board takes any action on the committee reports.

No date has been set for the next meeting of the courthouse commission as that body will have no further business before it until after title is acquired to the downtown site on which it is proposed to erect the new building, and which is to be secured through condemnation proceedings.

The county already has an abstract of title to the property and it is expected that the county attorney will institute condemnation proceedings just as soon as the proper papers can be drawn up for filing in court and the owners of the property have been notified. This is likely to be done within the next few days.

BRANCH FOR THIS CITY

American Biscuit Company May Establish Bakery in Duluth.

A. C. Clausen, General Manager, to Talk to Grocers.

Duluth's wholesale and manufacturing interests may soon be augmented by the establishment here of a branch factory of the American Biscuit company, the headquarters of which are located at present at Crookston, Minn.

A. C. Clausen of Crookston, general manager of the company, will be in Duluth tomorrow and will deliver an address before the members of the Retail Grocers' association at their hall tomorrow evening. It is expected that he will announce then the company's plans regarding the institution of a bakery here.

Mr. Clausen is a prominent attorney of Crookston but now is devoting most of his time to the biscuit company. He is also secretary of the Crookston Retail Grocers' association and has many friends among the retail grocers of Duluth. Most of them met him at the state convention of grocers held at Crookston a year ago.

The annual meeting of the American Biscuit company will be held next Saturday at Crookston and it is understood that one or two Duluth men who are interested in the enterprise will be elected to the board of directors. S. Peterson of Crookston is president of the company; S. E. Berg of Halstead, Minn., vice president, and Gilbert H. Bang of Crookston, treasurer.

The American Biscuit company is an independent concern and was organized about a year ago. It is incorporated and most of its stockholders are retail grocers. They are located in different parts of Northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

Some Duluth men are understood to be interested in the company already and more will be if a branch factory is located here. The officers of the retail grocers' association are planning upon the Head of the Lakes as an ideal distributing point, so that the branch here is practically assured. Preliminary arrangements for it will probably be made by Mr. Clausen during his stay here. John R. Carter, one of the company's traveling salesmen, is already in town.

Lanne Back.
This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles, and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind on a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by all druggists.

SUPERIOR WINS ANDERSON MEDAL

Defeats Duluth Curlers in Annual Match for This Trophy.

The Superior curlers captured the Anderson medal yesterday afternoon in the annual match with the Duluth club, by the score of 63 to 27.

All four of the Superior rinks won their games, and they secured a partial revenge for the defeat in the Manley-McLennan competition.

The Superior rinks will now play down for the possession of the trophy. The following were the skids and scores:

H. H. Grace, 13; T. F. McGilvray, 9. H. L. DeFovese, 17; H. Hoople, 4. Herbert Rogers, 11; C. F. West, 8. Irvine Russell, 12; Rev. Alexander Milne, 6.

HAD TO WALK TO FIRE.

Firemen Caught Without Car Fare Late in Reaching the Blaze.

The recent fire at the Peavey elevator was the cause for the introduction of the resolution at the council meeting last evening requesting the street railway to carry firemen in uniform and on duty, free.

Some of the firemen were eating their supper at the time the alarm was turned in, and two or three of them ran for the car without any money in their pockets to pay their fare. As a result they had to walk to the fire. At least one being requested to leave a car because of having no fare.

FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENTS.

Sante Fe Preparing to Issue $17,296,000 of 50-Year Bonds.

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—President E. P. Sante Fe is preparing to issue $17,296,000 of 50-year 4 per cent bonds. This is the remainder of the $50,000,000 issue authorized last year. The money so obtained is to be used in improving the company's California overland line by reducing grades, building a couple of important cut-offs and in building a second track for the major line. Part of this second track has already been extended out from Chicago.

These bonds are secured by a mortgage upon the entire property of the company at the rate of $1.25 per mile, subject to the general mortgage loans at the rate of $17.85 per mile.

A MESSAGE FROM OCEAN

Received by Duluth Police But is Probably Only a Joke.

Paper Purports to be From Victim of Steamer Valencia.

"Goodbye to the world. She is sinking now."

With these words some person, who is believed to have been a practical joker, closed a message which was consigned to the Pacific ocean, and which has finally come into the hands of the Duluth police.

About a week ago some boys living in Astoria, Ore., saw a bottle floating in the water near the town, and wading out, secured possession of it.

On opening the bottle the boys found the following message written on a scrap of paper torn from a memorandum book:

The steamer Valencia is wrecked, the police at Astoria and an investigation was made. It was learned that there was no such person on the passenger list of the Valencia, the only person of that name being a young lady from Bellingham, Wash., who had been accounted for.

The Astoria authorities believed the paper to be a hoax, but in order to confirm their suspicions they enclosed it in a letter to Chief Troyer.

There is no such street in Duluth as Market street, and no such person as Frank Thompson of 315 Market street can be found.

The message was probably thrown in the sea by some person who had queer ideas of practical joking, and who thought it would be a clever plan to give the police authorities a little extra trouble in their search for the relatives and friends of the survivors of the wreck.

Chief Troyer has written the Astoria police that the whole affair is evidently a foolish attempt at a practical joke, and that there is no such address as 315 Market street, Duluth.

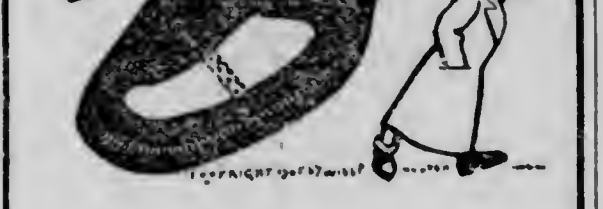

JORDAN DISCOVERED.

Once Much Wanted Man Is at Hot Springs, Ark.

Little Rock, Feb. 27.—It was learned today that Thos. D. Jordan, former controller of the Equitable Life Assurance company, who was wanted during the recent insurance investigation in New York, is at present stopping with his wife at a hotel in Hot Springs, Ark. Mr. Jordan did not care to make any statement concerning his absence from New York, but his wife said:

"It will cause too much needless publicity. Asked concerning the testimony of her son before the Armstrong commission to the effect that he did not know whether his father was alive or dead, she said the statement was true that the young man did not know anything concerning his father."

STATE CONVENTION OF THE PROHIBITIONISTS

Minneapolis, Feb. 27.—The state convention of the Minnesota Prohibitionists is to be held in the new auditorium on March 7 and 8.

The business of the convention will consist of the nomination of a state ticket; the election of a new campaign committee; and outlining a general campaign, with special attention paid to the members of the legislature and congress. The usual provision has been made for oratory for the occasion.

The convention will be opened by an address of welcome by Mayor David F. Jones and the key note of the campaign will be sounded by Joseph G. Morrison, of Fergus Falls, who will be named by the state committee as temporary chairman of the convention.

A great mass meeting will be held on the evening of the first day, which will be addressed by Homer L. Castle of Pennsylvania, who is special counsel for the treasury department of that state, appointed by William H. Berry, treasurer, who was elected last year by nearly 60,000 majority, overcoming a Roosevelt majority of 500,000. Mr. Castle campaigned with Mr. Berry during the entire canvass last fall, and friend and foe alike admit that it was Castle's arraignment of the corruption that existed in the handling of the money of the Keystone state that had much to do with the election of Mr. Berry, who has been a lifelong Prohibitionist, although he was nominated and elected by the Democrats, Prohibitionists and Lincoln Republicans, against the corrupt Quay gang.

Another of the speakers will be Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago, who was elected on the Prohibition ticket three years ago to represent the Hyde Park district in the Illinois legislature. He made a brilliant record in that body, winning for himself the distinction of being the man who forced the Republican "steering committee" to capitulate and allow the legislature to take a roll call on the "Traction Bill," which enabled Chicago, by popular vote, to own and operate her street railways. Mr. Stewart is probably better known through the state of Minnesota than any other Prohibition speaker of national reputation.

The gossips in the Prohibition ranks are naming as probable candidate for governor, C. W. Dorsett, of Minneapolis, who headed the ticket two years ago; D. U. Weld, of Windom, who as state treasurer led the ticket in 1904; George D. Hazard of Minneapolis; T. J. Anderson, one of the leading business men of Stearns county and Charles M. Way of Minneapolis, whose nomination four years ago was urged by his many friends. The contest would have been close, ending quite possibly in Mr. Way's nomination, but for the fact that he withdrew his name from consideration before the first ballot.

The roads have announced a rate of one fare for the round trip, providing that within a radius of thirty-three miles the rate will be one and one-third fares.

ALDERMEN STEP DOWN

They Bid Last, Long Farewell to All Their Greatness.

Last Meeting of Old Council Marked by Love Feast.

The old council bowed itself out of existence last evening, and next Monday night the new members will assume their seats, although the new council will not be organized until the following Tuesday.

Following the completion of the regular business last evening, there was an informal program of speeches. President Haven led off by thanking the aldermen for the courtesies which had been extended to him during his four terms as chairman.

"I have made mistakes and I trust you will forgive them," he said. "I have tried to give all a fair deal, and partnership has not been allowed to enter into these matters."

Alderman Barnes then called upon Alderman Trevillion, the oldest member of the council, to say something on the occasion of his last appearance as an alderman. Alderman Trevillion expressed his regret at severing the association with the other aldermen, and his confidence that his successor would serve as well as he had done. "It is very unkind to call on a man to speak at his own funeral," said Alderman Waugh, who was the next victim. "I got in here by accident and now I am assisted by some of my kind friends to step out."

"It was my first political experience," said Alderman Chesney, "and I must say I have enjoyed these meetings very much. I have always received the most courteous treatment here, for which I wish to express my thanks. 'I am retiring a little earlier this time than on a former occasion,' said Alderman Harker. 'I can sympathize with Alderman Waugh. I have been there.'"

Alderman Olson thanked the president for courtesies extended and the city clerk for his advice and assistance on city affairs, and he asked the new council to handle the Hermantown road project gently and if possible to push it to an early completion.

The aldermen's mad thirst for speeches was not satisfied even yet, and after hearing from all the retiring members, they started on the city officers present. City Attorney Bert Foster was the first to be called upon.

"I don't know whether I am speaking at my own funeral or not," said Mrs. Foster. "I don't know yet whether I am to be with you for another term or not. A friend once told me I would make the best professional publisher he ever saw, so if I am speaking at my own funeral it will be quite appropriate. I appreciate the treatment I have received from this body, and I wish both the old and the new members good luck and prosperity."

Building Inspector Kelley thanked the aldermen for their patient manner in which they worried through the building ordinance, and said that he hoped they would not mutilate it in the future.

City Clerk Cheadle said that he had learned one thing during his term of office, and that was that in order to be elected an alderman, a man had to be a pretty good fellow.

President Haven then called upon "the representative of the press," but somebody yelled for police, and the show broke up.

Mayor Cullum... added the council a small, neatly wrapped "package" in the form of a communication regarding the motion on the Metropolitan theater passed last week.

"I wish to assure the council," it read, "that I thoroughly appreciate the solicitude and anxiety displayed by them in this case in regard to the public's welfare during its absence. However I should have pursued the same course without any sensational features, as soon as the facts were called to my attention on my return."

He further stated that the proprietor had been arrested on evidence secured by the police, and that the assistant city attorney stood ready to consider any evidence regarding the billboards, that might be presented to him.

In order that there may be no danger of personal injury suits, either to the city or to the street railway company, City Engineer McGilvray will undertake to personally pilot a car across the billywaulundations of the Lake avenue viaduct, and land it safely on the lower side to run as a stub line from the viaduct to the canal.

Manager Warren of the street railway, in a letter to the council last evening, stated that the engineer had made this offer and that the company would put the stub line in service if it were assured of the protection of the police for the car which would have to be left standing at night on lower Lake avenue.

The offer was accepted and the company assured of the protection of the police.

On motion by Alderman Lyle, the council requested the street railway to carry firemen in uniform and on duty with interesting ordinance, and said that he pointed out that the police officers, while in uniform, were carried free of charge, and that the firemen while on their way home from fires or while hurrying to reach fires to which they were summoned from their homes, were compelled to pay fares.

Alderman Wilson asked the city engineer to prepare estimates of the cost of a bridge across Lester river at London road.

HOLD ANOTHER TOURNAMENT

Duluth Club Plans One More Meet at Woodland Hill.

At a meeting of the members of the Duluth Ski club, held last evening at the St. Louis hotel, it was decided to hold another tournament on March 10, providing sufficient snow falls before that time to cover the slide again.

The hill is bare at the present time, but the members hope for more winter weather, and if it comes the tournament will be held.

Events for boys and ladies will be included in the program this time, and President Iverson and Secretary Lundie were appointed a committee to make arrangements. Medals will be given as prizes.

The meet was probably the last the club will hold this year. It now has 150 members, and before next season the officers hope to have many times that number of names on the lists. As rapidly the membership is increased, new hills will be prepared.

Root Gets Decision. Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 27.—Jack Root, of Chicago, last night got the decision over Fred Russell of Denver at the end of a round fight. The decision was awarded because Root was the aggressor all the time, and in two rounds he had Russell all but out. Russell was twenty pounds heavier than Root and had all the advantage of reach and he hung to his opponent throughout the fight.

Gotch Throws Parr. Kansas City, Feb. 27.—Frank Gotch last night, in convention hall in this city, won a straight fall in a wrestling match with Jim Parr of England, in the eighth and thirteen minutes, respectively.

COMPANY TO LIQUIDATE. Oshkosh, Wis., Feb. 27.—The Williamson-Libbey Lumber company, manufacturer of such doors and sashes, organized in 1898, has gone into liquidation. Its liabilities are about $50,000. These liabilities will, however, be paid in full, the heirs of D. L. Libbey, founder of the company, have agreed to pay them. The company has branch houses at Kansas City and Minneapolis. They it is asserted are unaffected. Poor business is given as one of the causes of the difficulties.

TIED DOWN.

20 Years Slavery—How She Got Freedom.

A dyspepsia veteran who writes from one of England's chambers, organized his army of slaves, and won victory in her twenty years' fight, naturally exults in her triumph over the coffee

"I feel it a duty to tell you," she says, "how much good Postum Food Coffee has done me. I am not only grateful, but also desiring to let others who may be suffering as I did, know of the delightful method by which I was relieved."

"I had suffered for twenty years from dyspepsia, and the giddiness that usually accompanies that painful ailment, and which frequently prostrated me. I never drank much coffee, and cocoa and even milk were too strong for my impaired digestion, so I used tea, exclusively, till about a year ago, when I found in a package of Grape-Nuts the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.'"

"After a careful reading of the book, let me tell you to try Postum Food Coffee, and sent to 66 Shoe Lane, London, for a package. I enjoyed it from the first, and at once gave up tea in its favor."

"I began to feel better very soon. My giddiness left me after the first few days' use of Postum, and my stomach became stronger so rapidly that it was not long till I was able to eat still and to take milk and many other articles of food of which I was formerly compelled to deny myself. I have proved the truth of your statement that Postum 'makes good, red blood.'"

"I have become very enthusiastic over the merits of my new table beverage, and during the past few months, have conducted a Postum propaganda among my neighbors, which has brought benefit to many, and I shall continue to tell my friends of the 'better way' in which I rejoice." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. That little book, "The Road to Wellville" may be found in pkgs. of Postum and Grape-Nuts.

THE LEADERS UNTOUCHED

Lawson Says Armstrong Committee Did Not Reach Criminals.

Boston Man is Ready to Co-operate for New Laws.

Boston, Feb. 27.—In a series of communications issued last night, Thomas W. Lawson of this city, who for several months has been active in securing proxies from policyholders in leading life insurance companies, states that he is ready and willing to do all in his power to aid in the passage of the laws recommended by the Armstrong investigating committee. Mr. Lawson issued three letters, one addressed to the Armstrong committee, another to the so-called committee of governors, to whom he has turned over all insurance proxies that he has thus far secured, and a third to the policyholders of the New York Life and Mutual Life insurance companies. I would respectfully submit, at an expense of hundreds of thousands of dollars I have collected scores of thousands of proxies, and I have turned these over to a committee composed of governors, the people and equally representative public men. My reason for collecting such proxies, I had reason to believe that the policyholders of these two companies have been plundered of from $100,000 to $250,000, which can be recovered, provided these companies are placed in the hands of honest, fearless men. I believe that if these companies are placed in the hands of such men, some of the richest and best-known men in the country, who have systematically plundered the people for a quarter of a century past, will be sent to state's prison for long terms.

Mr. Lawson informed the investigating committee that he has closely followed its work.

While I know that it has accomplished much, I also know from personal knowledge it has not exposed or touched upon a single foundation of evil or exposed or even placed upon the witness stand a single one of the head criminals responsible for evil. From personal knowledge, I know the policyholders cannot come into their own or be rescued against the total destruction of their companies, and the loss in whole both part of the funds which have in the past years been grafted from them unless reform is enacted, to-wit: That all proxies now in existence, by whomsoever collected or held shall be made void.

If your committee will ask the legislature to enact the law which you have respectfully submitted, to-wit: That all proxies now in existence, by whomsoever collected or held shall be made void, the annual election shall take place only after sufficient time has elapsed to enable the committee to send to all policyholders as many sets of names for directors and trustees as shall be required by any 100 policyholders, together with a set nominated by the companies' present trustees and that such nominations shall be treated fairly and alike, and that there shall be open to all, a list of policyholders' names and addresses. I will not only advise the governors' committee to consent to holding all proxies collected by me, but I will do all in my power to assist in the passage of the laws you have recommended and advise the governors' committee to do the same."

In a letter to the governors' committee, Mr. Lawson advises it to assure the New York legislature that it approves of the new election law proposed by the Armstrong committee.

He urges the governors' committee to do all in its power to assist in the passage of the law.

Mr. Lawson advises the governors' committee in the event of the passage of the proposed law, to nominate a board of trustees, "as near ideal in its composition as your honesty, fairness and ability can formulate."

In a third communication addressed to the policyholders of the New York Life and Mutual Life companies, who have sent him their proxies, Mr. Lawson explained the situation and urged them to do all in their power to aid in the passage of the law in regard to the conduct of the annual election.

"The most effective work you can do," said Mr. Lawson, "is to cause your governors, state commissioners and different committees to serve notice on the New York Life and Mutual that if they oppose the passage of the law, they will be barred from doing business in your state."

Mr. Lawson also spoke of an alleged "secret contract" in use by the companies, which the Armstrong committee in their investigation did not even learn the existence of.

In conclusion, he urges the policyholders, should the new election law be put in force, to do all in their power for the success of the governors' tickets.

RECEIVER APPOINTED

For the Marquette County Gas Light and Traction Company.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 27.—The Marquette County Gas, Light & Traction company, operator of the traction system serving Ishpeming and Negaunee and the gas and electric lighting plants there, has gone into the hands of a receiver, E. B. Finch, secretary of the company, has been appointed receiver upon application of the trustees, the Merchants' Loan & Trust company of Chicago. The business will be conducted without interruption.

The bill was filed by the attorneys representing Granger, Farwell & Co., bankers and brokers, of Chicago, holders of bonds amounting to $250,000 covered by a mortgage on the plants. Some $25,000 to $40,000 worth of local claims will be subject to settlement after the claim of the bondholders is satisfied. These claims were in part incurred on account of the gas explosion which wrecked the Miners' National Bank Nov. 8.

Since the company obtained possession of the old company's property a year ago, improvements have amounted to many thousands of dollars. The explosion saved the business, but the heavy loss to the traction system has been a big loser this winter on account of storms.

PRESIDENT AS PEACEMAKER

As Result of Intervention Miners and Operators Will Meet Again.

New York, Feb. 27.—President Roosevelt has again intervened as a peacemaker between the coal miners and operators, and as the result of a letter addressed to him by the United Mine Workers of America, a national convention of the miners and operators will be held March 15 to try to reach an agreement on the soft coal strike April 1.

The president's letter and the announcement that the national convention would be called, were made public last night by Mr. Mitchell after a long conference with Francis L. Robinson, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, and chairman of the bituminous and anthracite operators' association at the end of last week. Also present at the conference were J. C. Coffey of the Southwestern Coal association and H. P. Kish, representing the soft coal miners allied with the Gould railroad.

The conference did not adjourn until after midnight. Mr. Mitchell announced that after reading President Roosevelt's letter, it was agreed both by himself and the operators, that the national convention should be held in Indianapolis, in session recently at Indianapolis, but that the operators, President Mitchell himself has been quoted as saying that so far as he knew there would certainly be a strike in the bituminous fields April 1, and that the operators would not agree to a settlement of the difficulties in hand.

With the anthracite negotiations well under way, President Mitchell has been devoting most of his time to bringing about a settlement of the differences in the soft coal regions.

Mr. Mitchell has not announced any details of yesterday's conference, nor did he say just when the call for the convention which will fix the place of meeting will be sent out. March 15, he believes, is the earliest date at which the conference can be summoned, and he believes that if there is to be peace, the two weeks before the date fixed for the miners' assembly and April 1, when the present agreement with the operators expires, is sufficient time to bring about the desired result. Mr. Mitchell would not indicate what new propositions would be placed before the miners, but significance it attached to his statement that the operators at yesterday's conference agreed that the convention should be called. Concessions may be made on both sides. President Roosevelt's interest in the situation will be held as an additional reason for bringing about a new agreement.

WILL HOLD SERVICES

Churches Prepare for Observance of the Lenten Season.

Six Weeks of Special Services With Fasting and Prayer.

The Lenten season will begin tomorrow which is Ash Wednesday and the period of six weeks will be observed by the Roman Catholic, Episcopalian and some of the other churches, with special services, prayer and fasting.

In the Catholic churches tomorrow morning, a solemn service takes place, during which ashes are sprinkled on the foreheads of people to remind them that they are but dust. In the evening there will be benediction, instruction and the rosary.

Special services will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings during Lent, with additional services during Holy Week. There will be services at the cathedral every day during Lent.

Bishop Morrison of the Episcopal church has arranged a full program for the next six weeks. He will conduct services in Trinity chapel Ash-Wednesday morning and leave Friday on a tour of the diocese, to be absent until March 21. He will conduct services in the Twin Cities and Chicago during his absence.

Bishop Morrison will be in Duluth again Good Friday and will conduct services at Trinity chapel, preaching at St. John's church Easter morning and at the Church of the Holy Apostles in the evening.

The following rules and regulations for the observance of Lent have been issued by Bishop McColrick for the guidance of Catholics in his diocese:

"The use of flesh meat is allowed at all meals on Sundays, and at the principal meal on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays except the Saturday of Holy week (April 14)."

"The use of flesh meat, therefore, is forbidden at all meals on Wednesdays and Friday evenings during Lent, and the Saturday of Holy week and on other days, outside of Sundays. It is forbidden at other repasts outside the full meal."

"The use of flesh meat is permitted at all times in the preparation of food. Both fish and flesh meat cannot be taken at the same meal, even on Sundays."

"Persons legitimately excused or dispensed from the precept of fasting may use flesh meat at all meals on the days when it is a general precept to use it at the principal meal. From the precept of fast are excused: Those under the age of twenty-one years or over the age of sixty; the infirm and the convalescent; women bearing or nursing children; persons engaged in hard labor or other duties exhaustive of physical strength; persons who from poverty are unable to procure for the principal meal a sufficiency of nutritive food."

"From the precept of abstinence are excused: The young under the age of seven years; the sick; persons who are so situated as not to be able to procure for themselves abstemious food."

"In virtue of the authority conceded to bishops of the United States by a recent pontifical indult, permission is granted to 'working people' to use meat on all days of Lent, with the exception of Friday, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and the Saturday of Holy week."

"This dispensation from abstinence extends to all three meals in the day."

"The usual prohibition remains against using flesh meat and fish at the same meal."

"Where the wage-earner, in virtue of the indult, uses meat, all members of his household may likewise use it. The church does not wish to impose upon the household the inconvenience of double cooking. But, in cases of this kind the members of the household who are bound by the precept of fast, are allowed the use of meat only at their principal meal."

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 27.—The supreme court yesterday held that witnesses were compelled to answer questions in the Standard Oil hearing in St. Louis. This decides the point on which H. H. Rogers declined to answer questions at the hearing in New York. The St. Louis hearing was discontinued a week ago, until the supreme court's decision on the point involved should be handed down.

The court lays down the law that when foreign corporations as the oil companies come into Missouri to do business, they agree to obey the laws of the state and they must obey the laws. The opinion also holds that the companies cannot refuse to produce the books and papers which authorized representatives of the state may demand.

The ruling covers the same questions that were before Judge Gliderslevue of the New York supreme court, regarding testimony of H. H. Rogers.

This case was brought to the supreme court by Attorney General Hadley, attorney of the Republic Oil company, had refused to produce at the inquiry before Special Commissioner Anthony books and papers of the company by which Hadley expected to prove a trust agreement between the Standard, Republic and Waters-Pierce Oil companies. Attorney General Hadley asked that the court order the demanded books and papers produced and witnesses to answer questions asked.

FROWNED ON IN DULUTH

Postoffice Officials Try to Taboo Too Youthful Romances.

Youngsters Not Encouraged to Patronize General Delivery Window.

Allegany is not the only city where in youthful romances conducted via the United States mails are not encouraged.

There has been a general understanding in the Duluth postoffice for years to the effect that children and youngsters who imagine themselves growing up are not to receive mail at the general delivery window without the knowledge of their parents.

There have been cases right here in Duluth, it is said, where parents have been warned by the authorities that their young daughters were receiving letters which perhaps needed parental censure and this was long before Postmaster John Francis decided that the kids must no longer get their mail at the general delivery window in Allegheny just across the river from Pittsburgh.

A rule had been in effect in Pittsburgh placing a ban on general delivery correspondence which involved too youthful persons but the youngsters merely went across the river after their love epistles. Young school girls appeared to be the worst offenders.

A sharp watch-out is invariably kept by the man behind the general delivery window in the Duluth post office. Uncle Sam does not mean to be harsh but he hesitates when it comes to acting as a helper in love affairs which do not have the sanction of the powers that be at home.

It is probable that the careful watch kept by the officials has resulted in much good. Parents have often been able to put a stop to little affairs of the heart which might have resulted disastrously, and young persons of tender age have not been encouraged to call for their mail at the office.

If Willie wants to write to Nellie he had better address the note to the fair one at her home because it is probably safer in the long run.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO BURN HAMLEY FALLS.

Hamley Falls, Minn., Feb. 27.—A deliberate attempt was made to burn this village early yesterday. A fire, undoubtedly of incendiary origin, started in the bowling alley in a building owned by the Amund estate. When the fire broke was laid, it was found the nozzles were securely plugged with white lead and stones. The hard work of the fire department and volunteers was the only thing that prevented a disastrous blaze. The fire was confined to one building.

The music of American composers was that which was presented yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Matinee Musicians which was held at Stedman hall, and the program was of more than ordinary interest to those who are watching the serious efforts of Americans in the realm of music. The special feature of the program was the pianoforte Quintette in A Minor, Op. 33 of Arthur Foote, two movements of which was played. The musicians playing were the members of the Duluth Chamber Music club, Mrs. F. G. Bradbury, piano, F. G. Bradbury, violin, Oliver Colbenson, first violin, Clarence Evans, viola and Mrs. Marie Geist, second violin. The number was played with the finished ensemble and pleasing interpretation which marks the work of this organization. The piano numbers were "Under the Pines," "Blindness" by Templeton Strong played by Mrs. J. A. Stephenson and Mrs. Margaret McLean; three of Edward Macdowell's numbers "To a Water-Lily," "In Autumn" and "From an Indian Lodge" which were played by Miss Eleanor Plino; "Notturmo, Op. 21, No. 2" by Ethelbert Nevin, played by Miss Helen Colburn and two more Macdowell numbers "Rigaudon" and "Blindness" played by Miss Elizabeth Morton. The soloists of the afternoon were Emily Ellis Woodward and Miss Mary Eyer Bradshaw. Mrs. Woodward's numbers were "Sheena Van" by H. H. A. Beach and "Sleep, Baby Sleep" by Gerrit Smith. Miss Bradshaw sang "In Piccadilly" by Arthur Foote and an especially interesting Norwegian love song "My Lover He Comes on the Snee" by Clough-Leichter. Together Mrs. Woodward and Miss Bradshaw sang Ethelbert Nevin's "O. That Two Were Maying" and William Neidlinger's "Parting." The program was arranged by Miss Carlotta Almonds and Miss Sybil Hartman.

The benefits of a club in belonging to the National Federation of Music Clubs of America was explained to the club members by Miss Bradshaw who is secretary of that branch of the work. The local club has joined the national federation feeling that much is to be gained in this alliance with the musical clubs of America whose primary object is to create a more real and vital musical atmosphere throughout the country.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Feely and Landon G. Lynch took place last evening at 7 o'clock at St. James Catholic church of West Duluth. The church was prettily decorated in flowers and palms, and the wedding service was read by the pastor, Father Blain. Feely, assisted by Father Blain of Feely and Father Walsh of Proctor. The bride was attended by Miss Amelia Deyon and the groomsmen were M. J. Filiatrault. The ushers were Messrs. V. R. Method, Edward Dornedy, Joseph Method and John Cashin. The bride wore a pretty gown of white silk tulle and carried white flowers and the maid of honor also wore white and carried white flowers. Following the service in the church a reception was held at the parsonage. Assisting at the rooms were Mrs. V. R. Method and Mrs. Joseph Method. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch left for a wedding trip to Chicago and Eastern cities. They will return to West Duluth, where they will be at home.

Personal Mention.

Miss Casswell spent the week end at Minneapolis.

Mrs. W. G. Joerns, who has recovered from her recent severe illness, left yesterday for a several months' trip to the Western coast. She will visit at Winnipeg for a short time on her way there.

The Misses Roemer of Dingwall street are visiting friends at St. Paul.

WHAT RETAIL MARKETS OFFER.

Scientifically fed spring chickens, 33 cents a lb.

German hand sausage, 5 cents a piece.

Pickled stroman herring, 10 cents a lb.

New beets, carrots and turnips.

Head and leaf lettuce.

Spring chicken, fried or broiled or however it is fixed, is a typically Southern dish, for nobody ever read a Southern story that did not mention chicken in this typical Southern combination, together with beaten biscuit and hot molasses that was a family heritage and a lady with nice hands at one end of the table. The spring chickens that are shown in the market are plucked and clean looking, with their feet tied together, with a brass egg-shaped tag attached, which says that they are somebody's scientifically fed spring chickens. The mercenary market man says they are 35 cents a pound. And with that commercial announcement the visions of fried or broiled chicken, unlike in tenderness the one who crowed at Peter, disappear for most people.

The fresh eggs at 20 cents a dozen are still shocking the housewife into preparing eggs for luncheon most every day, for the idea of being able to have eggs in February for any such price as they are now obtainable, is a wonder that they can scarcely get accustomed to.

Almond Best Flavor for Angel Cake. According to Mrs. Telford

By EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.

My Dear Mrs. Telford:

Will you kindly publish a recipe for beef a la mode, also one for angel cake?

Beef a la Mode.

Procure a nice thick piece of beef off the lower sirloin of top round, weighing about six pounds. Chop fine one onion and a tablespoonful of parsley and add to it a tablespoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of black pepper. Cut a quarter pound of larding and the same amount of raw ham into finger length strips, and roll in the seasoning. With a sharp pointed knife make incisions an inch apart in the meat, and put the pork and ham larders alternately into the incisions. Press the meat into a round shape and the trimmings with twice. Stick a tablespoonful and a half of whole cloves on the outside of the meat roll. Cut a few thin slices of the larding pork, and another quarter pound raw sliced ham. Then add three onions sliced, two carrots and a bouquet of sweet herbs, or use one of the spice bags already prepared. Place the meat on top of this, and a cup of Rhine wine and a little white broth to reach half way up the meat, then cover over the top of the kettle with buttered paper and put on the kettle lid. Cook slowly for four hours, keeping covered all the time, except when you turn the meat over once or twice. When done, remove the meat to a hot platter, cut into the strings, trim neatly and set in the oven to keep hot while you prepare the sauce. Press the broth in which the meat was cooked from every suspicion of fat, then strain. Put into a small saucepan a tablespoonful of butter, add a tablespoonful of flour, stir and cook a few minutes. Then add two cups of the strained broth and cook five minutes, until slightly thickened and smooth. Color with kitchen bouquet or caramel. Pour a little of the sauce over the meat and garnish with boiled potatoes, sliced carrots and small white glazed onions. Serve very hot.

Angel Cake.

The ingredients called for are one cup white of egg (nine or ten, according to size), one cup granulated sugar, one cup flour, measured after once sifting, a tablespoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of cream of tartar, and a half teaspoonful of almonds to flavor. Sift the flour and salt together five times. Add the salt to the white of eggs, then beat in a large bowl on a large platter. Whisk the whites begin to look foamy, add the cream of tartar, then continue the beating until very stiff. When you reach this point you can tip the platter upside down without the eggs falling off. Now is the critical moment. The oven should be ready, a slow, bread oven. It is often wise to leave the door open fifteen minutes before putting the cake in, which gives it a chance to get used to the heat. If it has not been used for anything else will do. Now begin folding the sugar and flour through the whites of the eggs, taking care not to break the air bubbles of the sugar. Do not stir, folding until the cake is in the tin and the tin in the oven. Bake very slowly about 45 minutes. If it bakes too fast at first, cover with buttered paper. Almond is considered the best flavor to use with angel cake, but lemon or vanilla may be substituted if desired. The flavoring is added at the last.

Bride's Wardrobe Made of Spring and Winter Robes.

By A. T. ASHMORE.

Despite the fact that this is an extravagant time of the year in which to be married, there are nevertheless many February brides, and these fortunate young women all have a difficult time in combining in one troupeau both a winter and a spring outfit. It is one of the oldest superstitions that no gown, hat or any other article of clothing worn during spinstership must be worn after the wedding day, and there are any number of brides who still follow out this ancient edict with the utmost conscientiousness. For this reason, then, fur hats and winter gowns must be procured, as well as a handsome spring outfit. With a hat, when a winter is over, it must be put away until next year, but there are many dresses which will be equally good service through two or more seasons. In the illustrations, from La Saison de la Mode, are shown six costumes, any one of which, if made up now, could be worn just as well in the spring. A gown of blue tulle with a wide band of deep gray satin. The skirt is full trimmed with a band of Irish lace inserted above the hem and bordered with a wide band of deep blue satin. The belt or sash is of satin, with long ends edged with lace and tucked into the skirt. A full surplice of the silk is laid over the shoulders and passed through a large gold buckle. The lace yoke is unlined, but the sleeves are especially pretty, with the large puff caught in above the elbow by a band of crushed satin and finished off with the wide lace.

A smart travelling gown is made of dark blue cloth trimmed with wide lace collar and cuffs and with bands of blue tulle. The sleeves are three-fourth length. In the model the skirt just touches all around, but it may be made to clear the ground.

A charmingly pretty dinner gown of white chiffon is made in the empire model. The chiffon is laid over a perfectly fitting satin lining. The gathered wide, handsome lace insertion, so that the effect is of a shirred scarf barred with the lace over each shirring. Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm and their baby left Bemidji about four months ago, ostensibly for Duluth. serves its purpose very well.

The Wora Trio, Hungarian singers and dancers, made a big hit last night. Their dancing is different from the style that Duluth has been used to. "The Boston City Quartet" sing and play in a quartet numbers in a way that was appreciated. The Gagnoux have an original juggling act. They twist tricks apparatus which unfolds into flags, fans and other pretty things. The Allen and Briggs are said to be a satisfactory comedy sketch, as do Hayward, Conroy and Hayward. The "Call their Marriage is Sublime." Bandy and Wilson are clever dancers.

The Fitzsimmons-O'Brien fight pictures comprise an interesting reproduction of the big battle in San Francisco.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTION.

METROPOLITAN—"Miss New York, Jr."

COMING ATTRACTION.

LYCEUM—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Elks show, "King O'Keefe."

MISS NEW YORK, JR.

Pleases Large Audience With a Mixed Entertainment.

The "Miss New York, Jr." company pleased a large audience at the Metropolitan last evening with an entertainment which was really a little of everything. There were many vaudeville acts, songs, dances and gags so that the fun or the interest did not lag.

The management calls the company the "Miss New York, Jr." but that is a little too elaborate praise. There are some pretty girls in the organization, however, and they wear some stunning costumes. The songs are for the most part pretty. The entertainment is mobilized under the head of "The King of Kokomo," for which Elks Alley, W. W. Barker, who appear to be responsible. There is nothing startling in the two-act skit, but it

FOUR LIFE COMPANIES TO QUIT MISSOURI.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 27.—Four insurance companies notified W. D. Vandiver, the Missouri insurance commissioner, yesterday that they will withdraw from the state on March 1, when their present licenses expire. These companies are the Bankers' Life company of New York, the Mutual Reserve Life company of New York, the Cosmopolitan Life company of Freeport, Ill., and the Northwestern National Life company of Minneapolis.

The announcement of the withdrawal of the Mutual Reserve company of New York was contained in a letter from George E. Eldredge, the company's first vice president.

Mr. Vandiver stated yesterday that the withdrawal notice saved him the trouble of ousting the company from the state, as he had prepared the ouster order and it was ready to be issued yesterday. He had not received this notice that the company would quit the state.

The withdrawal of the company from the state does not in any way affect its policy contracts now in existence in this state.

The other three companies withdrew of their own volition, as the commissioner had not taken them up at this time.

ONE DAY AS PRESIDENT

The Thrilling Adventures of Horace A. Taylor of Wisconsin.

Demonstration of Necessity of a Good Commissary Department.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Horace A. Taylor, whose retirement from office as assistant secretary of the treasury has been announced, is one of the great characters of the national government. No more biography does him justice. He has had a life full of experience. He was taken to Wisconsin when a small boy, and grew up there when the Mississippi river and its tributaries furnished the only highway of communication for the pioneer settlements of the West. He has been known all of the famous men of national politics from the Fremont campaign to the present day.

Among the strange exploits of Mr. Taylor in those heretofore unrecorded, interesting because of the lessons it teaches to the body of the nation, is the fact that he was taken to Wisconsin when a small boy, and grew up there when the Mississippi river and its tributaries furnished the only highway of communication for the pioneer settlements of the West. He has been known all of the famous men of national politics from the Fremont campaign to the present day.

When it occurred, and the summer was the time of the beautiful of the scenery of the Hudson, an attempt was made to start the bear maul into motion. But the foreign delegates, having already seen something of the strenuousness of the game, proceeded to rip up the covers from the table and help themselves to the supplies assembled in readiness for the 1 o'clock function. As these began to be taken out, a late February sun, Mr. Taylor's plous heart was filled with consternation. If these things were eaten now, already too much munching sandwiches to listen, somewhat as follows: "It has been decided to have the regular luncheon of the day, which had been intended for a little later hour, at this time. The bracing air of the river this morning has given us an appetite earlier than we had hoped, and so I urge you all most heartily to partake at this time of the simple but well prepared food." They did not need urging; the supplies were going fast when the invitation was issued. It was no wonder that his speech was translated, as overheard by a bilingual American, something like this: "The deputy president says the Americans have nothing more to give us at one o'clock."

After the interparliamentary peace delegates had seen at West Point what this country might do in the exercise of the Big Stick in the interval between now and the adoption of "the parliament of the world," it was planned to serve refreshments in one of the halls there. But the drills took more time than had been expected, and just as the invitation was about to be issued the train which was to take the delegates to New York was seen to be in waiting. The delegates were accordingly decided to betake themselves to it, and suitable lead-horses were provided for this purpose. The commandant gently whispered to Mr. Taylor that when they might slip to one side and on their way to the station "get a little nip" of something that cheers. They started to do so, and were making good progress on rubber heels, when the larger army headed for the train, discovering this perfidious deception. The purpose, broke the lines and started after Mr. Taylor. This resulted in a situation which hasse the relations of the vice presidency two years ago. J.

Martin Miller, an alert newspaper correspondent, who has since been appointed consul at Aix la Chapelle, Belgium, and is now back in Germany again, and is now project the name of his friend, Mr. Hitt, into the scene. Miller accordingly prepared an interview and started out to get somebody to "stand for it." He went to Cullum street, but the Illinois senator felt embarrassed because his state was leaning toward Mr. Cannon for that office, just about as hard as Mr. Cannon was leaning away from it. Miller went after various other people, but without success. They all liked Mr. Hitt, but would not be embarrassed in inaugurating a campaign in his favor. Finally Miller struck the treasurer department, resolved to come out of it with somebody's name attached to the interview. Of course, he started for Secretary Shaw, who happened to be out of the city that day. He next walked into Mr. Taylor's room, and asked him how he felt toward Robert R. Hitt, congressman from Illinois—what sort of a man he regarded him?

Taylor replied: "He is a gentleman and a scholar, and a man of property, as an old fellow in Hudson, Wis., used to say. When he wanted to pay to any man, that is what I think of Hitt." Having committed himself in this extreme course, Miller dashed out his interview, suggesting that Mr. Hitt would be a good man for the Republic to think of for the vice presidency, and asked Mr. Taylor if he would allow his use as coming from him. Taylor yielded to the entreaties, and the Hitt name was attached with a slight flourish, can never be known.

Sixty years ago Taylor went down the Mississippi river with his father to purchase in St. Louis family supplies for winter. They put everything into a barrel, and the barrel was loaded flat irons and pots and pans and kettles, and then some sugar and coffee. The barrel was so full that it was so that the hands had a fierce struggle to make it go forward. In their running back and forth with the barrel, they were making quick movements necessary in the treacherous stream, some inflammable material fell from a torch, and the barrel caught fire. Taylor was then in trouble for the way he had as well as for the barrel. The barrel was so full that it was so that the hands had a fierce struggle to make it go forward. In their running back and forth with the barrel, they were making quick movements necessary in the treacherous stream, some inflammable material fell from a torch, and the barrel caught fire. RIOT HAS SUBSIDED

Springfield, O., Is Again Enjoying Its Customary Quiet.

Six Houses Were Destroyed, But No One Was Killed.

Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 28.—The excitement following the rioting scene of last night's riot subsided with the dawn and the city is enjoying its ordinary quiet this morning.

The district known as "The Jungles" is in charge of the militia under command of Maj. Horace Kiefer.

No lives were lost in the riot. The result of the mob was the destruction of six negro houses, one saloon and the damaging of several others.

The casualties are the injuring of Sergeant of Police Cregar, who was hit with a rock. His injury is not dangerous. A young man named Deitz is also injured, though not seriously. No further trouble is expected.

Adj. Gen. Hughes and Col. Critchfield arrived here this morning and held a conference with Mayor James M. Todd. The mayor told them that he did not expect any serious trouble tonight, because the soldiers are on duty. Adj. Gen. Hughes and Col. Critchfield will return to Columbus at once. They will be accompanied by a call. The Xenia and Urbana companies and the two local companies of the Third regiment of the Ohio national guard are on duty in the "Jungles" and at other points where the trouble might occur. There are about 200 soldiers here so far. They are well equipped in their arms and will answer when called. Unless further trouble develops the militia can then be sent to this city. After midnight the militia patrolled the "Jungles" where the burning occurred and the struggles of the mob back. The scenes here today were similar to those of two years ago, March 7, when the lynching and riot occurred.

But few arrests were made last night. William Nunley was charged with rioting and John L. Coleman, president of the Clark County Liquor league, was placed in jail for refusing to keep his saloon closed. Coleman is a prominent liquor man and head of a brewing company.

"The Jungles" is the name given to East Columbia street where a number of negroes were killed by whites. Six or seven of these points were wiped out last night by the mob with the torch. The most infamous of these points were wiped out and burned last night by the rioters.

The owner stated this morning that the shack would be torn down immediately. Many negroes are fleeing from the city going to Columbus, Dayton and Urbana. It is estimated that 100 negroes have left since last night. The city during the riot was a scene of confusion and the outcome of feeling over the probable fatal shooting yesterday morning of Railroad brakeman M. M. Davis by Preston Ladd and Edward Dean, negroes, both of whom had been placed under arrest here and, because of threatened lynching, hurried under cover of darkness by the authorities to Dayton, where they are now in jail.

When the mob learned that the prisoners had been taken from the city, it went to that part of town known as the "Jungles." Inhabited by colored people and bogan to burn and loot dwelling houses and saloons. At least six dwellings were burned and the contents of one saloon looted.

The authorities believe the two negroes were saved from being lynched only by their removal from the city.

At an early hour yesterday Sheriff Almonsey had word from the military for all available troops last night and to hold others in readiness for possible call today.

The authorities say that the scenes are similar to those which ended in the lynching of Richard Dixon, a negro, in this city two years ago.

U. S. AFTER THE PORTE AGAIN

Urging the Necessity of Recognition of American Schools at Beirut.

Constantinople, Feb. 28.—The necessity for prompt official recognition of the demand that the American scholastic institutes at Beirut, Syria, and elsewhere be entitled to identical treatment with the schools of other nationalities is being vigorously impressed on the port by the American legation. Recognition was promised on the occasion of the American naval demonstration in August, 1904, but it has not yet been officially promulgated. In some quarters the impending visit of Rear Admiral Sigsbee's squadron to Beirut is connected with this question, but the legation points out that the visit will only remain three days at Beirut, their visit being part of the ordinary program of the squadron for its cruise in the Mediterranean.

The legation is also pressing the port to refund the customs dues paid under protest on consignments of educational material destined for the American schools, as it is recognized that these establishments are entitled to import such articles free of duty.

NO BIDS FOR ZAFIRO. Washington, Feb. 28.—No bids have been received at the navy department for the steel 1,000-ton steamer Zafiro, although it had been advertised for sale six weeks past. The vessel was appraised at $22,000.

MRS. CONYER AT SIOUX FALLS. Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 28.—Mrs. W. E. Conyer, wife of President Conyer of the United States Steel corporation, arrived in Sioux Falls today from the West. She has taken apartments here for an indefinite period. She refused to be interviewed.

PROF. LANGLEY, FAMOUS SCIENTIST, DEAD.

PROF. S. F. LANGLEY.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Prof. Samuel P. Langley died at Aiken, S. C., yesterday. He had a slight stroke of paralysis on Nov. 22, which affected his right side. He was gradually recovering from the attack, when, on the advice of his physician, he went South. His mental faculties were unimpaired, and he occasionally attended to business matters prior to his departure.

The immediate cause of his death was not stated in the brief telegram sent from Aiken to the Smithsonian Institution officials. He was accompanied to Aiken by a niece and an attendant.

Prof. Langley was 72 years of age. Several years ago Prof. Langley devoted his whole life to his scientific work. Though by profession a civil engineer and architect, astronomer, he occupied most of his time with scientific work. Prof. Langley conducted a series of experiments with a flying machine at Wilevater, Va., and the Potomac river, the results of which were watched with widespread interest.

Prof. Langley's scientific career covered a wide range of subjects, and included work in various institutions, which was supplemented by frequent trips to Europe in visiting foreign observatories and other institutions there, and he has accompanied some of the Smithsonian expeditions.

Prof. Langley had been the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution since 1887. His published writings include more than 1,000 titles.

The body of Prof. Langley will be brought here Thursday. The place of interment will depend on the wishes of the relatives, but it is not improbable that interment will be in Boston, the place of his birth, and where both his parents were buried.

Prof. Langley was a bachelor.

OPPOSES RATE BILL

Senator Foraker Takes Strong Ground Against President's Pet Measure.

Says Elkins Bill Will Accomplish Everything, With Amendments.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Immediately after the conclusion of the routine business of the senate today Mr. Foraker took the floor to deliver his promised speech on the railroad rate question. The announcement that he was to speak had the effect of filling the galleries and there also was a large attendance of senators. Today the senator departed from his custom of extemporaneous speaking and read from manuscript. He received careful attention.

Mr. Foraker conceded that some evils existed in connection with the railroads, but argued that all of them could be more effectively met by amending the Elkins law than by passing the pending bill. He announced his regret at differing with the president, but said he could not see his way clear to pursue any other course.

Referring to the Elkins law he said: "There has been no serious attempt to enforce this law to prevent discrimination."

WAS RUN DOWN BY TEAM AND KILLED

Young Austrian Meets Sudden Death on Road Near Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Spowanaz, an Austrian, 25 years old, was run over by a team on the county road, between Chisholm and Buhl, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was killed. He and another man were driving a load of cut wheels to Buhl for a local mining concern. The two men were walking behind the wagon. Two teams, hauling empty sleighs, were traveling in the same direction, several hundred rods in the rear. These were teams returning to Buhl from logging operations. The driver of the leading logging team, being confident of the gentleness of his horses, was enjoying a companionable chat with the other driver of the rear team. About that time a cutter, containing two men, came by from the opposite direction, going towards Chisholm. As they passed the driverless logging team, they purposely cracked their whips, and shouted foolishly, thereby frightening the logging team to a frenzy. The team madly rushed forward and dashed down the road. It ran down the man, who was walking behind his load of cut wheels, before he knew anything of the danger. It is not positively known if it was the tongue of the wagon that struck the unfortunate man, or whether the madly rushing horses trampled him to death; but he was killed instantly, his head being completely crushed and torn in a terrible manner. His partner, who helplessly stood by, is unable to give any information in the matter. Doctors from Hibbing speedily arrived on the scene, and the remains were brought to Richter's morgue at Chisholm. Spowanaz was not married.

SAVED BY TOWBOAT

Wrecked Crew of Big Schooner Rescued After Night of Peril.

Life Savers Unable to Reach the Men on Doomed Vessel.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 28.—After a harrowing night on the deck of their vessel with the life savers on shore unable to reach them either by life boat or breeches buoy and with death staring them in the face for hours the crew of the four-masted schooner George M. Grant, from Brunswick, Ga., to Perth Amboy, lumber laden, were rescued shortly after 9 o'clock this morning by the Norfolk tug, Jack Twohey, which started at once to Norfolk with the shipwrecked men. Conditions grew worse on the Grant as the hours passed and just before the arrival of the Twohey it looked as though the schooner's crew already half frozen from exposure would have to take to the rigging of the vessel to save themselves.

Immediately after the rescue of the Grant's crew her decks became awash and the schooner soon sank. Her cargo remains intact, but the conditions on the coast are still severe and the indications are the vessel will be a total loss.

The coast storm of last night which was the severest in many years has abated to some extent.

The New York steamer Princess Anne, which went aground in the outer harbor after sailing from Norfolk last evening, was floated apparently unhurt, and at 10 o'clock this morning and proceeded.

The cold weather of last night greatly damaged the large spinach crop now up in this trucking section and is believed to have killed all early planted peas and radishes as well as other early crops which had been planted as a result of what was taken to be a very early spring.

WILL TRY TO STOP TIPPING.

London Master Barbers to Fight It With Higher Wages.

London, Feb. 28.—The system of "tipping" assistants in hair dressing establishments is to undergo a severe test, for Messrs. H. P. Truett, perhaps the best known firm in London in this line, have just issued a letter to the trade calling for union in stopping the receipt of gratuities from customers. Although this is an employers' movement, still the master barbers assert that the better class of assistants will welcome the innovation, provided they are given higher wages, as they have been promised. Some barbers' establishments have heretofore tried to stop tipping, but they have found it impossible, for some customers go to extraordinary lengths in concealing the giving of a tip, such as hiding it under a towel or hairbrush. And against persistency of this sort the proprietors of the hair dressing establishments confess that they are powerless.

It is stated that in order to equalize matters should tipping be really abolished, a substantial increase in the wages of the workmen must follow, since the weekly sum that many barbers receive from this source is very large. There are shops in the West end where the barbers' assistants make no secret of the fact that they obtain from $15 to $20 in tips.

KING EDWARD IN FINE HEALTH.

Vienna, Feb. 28.—Dr. Ott, King Edward's Marlenbad physician, has taken the occasion of his return from his visit to England to publicly deny the rumors of the king's ill health. These Dr. Ott declares are malicious inventions possibly traceable to political motives. He says King Edward was never in better health than at present.

TROUBLE IN SIGHT

Gen. Funston Thinks That Conditions in China Are Serious.

Philippines Have No Troops to Spare for Chinese Duty.

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—"Things are beginning to look serious in the East," said Gen. Funston, in an interview yesterday. "And the action of the war department in re-enforcing the troops already in the Philippines will, in my opinion, be justified before the end of the present uprisings. Though the dispatches thus far received seem to indicate that the outrages have been confined to English residents in China, it is unreasonable to suppose that the mobs which have hitherto wrought such havoc among foreigners will make any distinction of nationality if they ever start a massacre."

Speaking of who would likely be in command in case it was necessary to land troops in China, the general said that Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood was the logical commander of an expedition of the kind, but that he had a number of generals under him in the military department of the Philippines, any one of whom was available for service in China. He thought it unlikely troops would be dispatched from here under a general.

"It seems probable," he continued, "that most of the forces for a Chinese expedition must come from the United States, for there are not many more men in the Philippines at present than suffice for the preservation of law and order among the islands."

RIOT HAS SUBSIDED

Springfield, O., Is Again Enjoying Its Customary Quiet.

Six Houses Were Destroyed, But No One Was Killed.

Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 28.—The excitement following the rioting scene of last night's riot subsided with the dawn and the city is enjoying its ordinary quiet this morning.

The district known as "The Jungles" is in charge of the militia under command of Maj. Horace Kelfer.

No lives were lost in the riot. The result of the mob was the destruction of six negro houses, one saloon and the damaging of several others.

The casualties are the injuring of Sergeant of Police Creager, who was hit with a rock. His injury is not dangerous. A young man named Polk is also injured, though not seriously. No further trouble is expected.

Adj. Gen. Hughes and Col. Critchfield arrived here this morning and held a conference with Mayor James M. Todd. The mayor told them that he did not expect any serious trouble tonight, because the soldiers are on duty.

Adj. Gen. Hughes and Col. Critchfield will return to Columbus at a call. The Xenia and Urbana companies and the two local companies of the Third regiment of the Ohio national guard are on duty in "The Jungles" and at other points where the trouble might occur. There are about 200 soldiers here so far. Dayton has its soldiers in its army and will answer when called. Unless further trouble develops the militia from there will not come to this city. After midnight the militia patrolled the "jungles" where the burning occurred and the streets here today were similar to those of two years ago, March, when the lynching and riot occurred.

But few arrests were made last night. William Nalley was charged with rioting and John L. Coleman, president of the Clark County Liquor league, was placed in jail for refusing to keep his saloon closed. Coleman is a prominent liquor man and head of a brewing company.

"The Jungles" is the name given to East Columbus street where a number of negro houses were destroyed by fire and six or seven of these points were wiped out last night by the mob with the torch. The most intense rioting was literally torn to shreds and burned half down by the rioters.

The owner stated this morning that the shock would be soon down immediately.

Many negroes are fleeing from the city going to Dayton, Xenia and Urbana. It is estimated that 100 negroes have left since last night.

The city is in a state of disorder, the outcome of feeling over the probable fatal shooting yesterday morning. Dr. Frankman M. Davis by Preston Ladd and Edward Down, negroes, both of whom had been placed under arrest here and because of threatened lynching, hurried under cover of darkness by the authorities to Dayton, where they are now in jail.

When the mob learned that the prisoners had been taken from the city, it went to that part of town known as "The Jungles," inhabited by colored people, and began to burn and loot dwelling houses and saloons. At least six dwellings were burned and the contents of one saloon looted.

The authorities believe the two negroes were saved from being lynched only by their removal from the city.

At an early hour yesterday afternoon, Albany law enforcement officer Patten for all available troops last night and to hold others in readiness for possible call today.

The authorities say that the scenes are similar to those which ended in the lynching of Richard Dixon, a negro, in this city two years ago.

U. S. AFTER THE PORTE AGAIN

Urging the Necessity of Recognition of American Schools at Beirut.

Constantinople, Feb. 28.—The necessity for prompt official recognition of the demand that the American schools at Beirut, Syria, and elsewhere be entitled to identical treatment with the schools of other nations is being urged by the American legation at Beirut.

Recognition was promised on the occasion of the American naval demonstration in August, 1904, but it has not yet been officially promised. Some quarters the impending visit of Rear Admiral Sigsbee's fleet to Beirut is connected with this question, but the legation points out that the fleet will only remain three days at Beirut, their visit being part of the ordinary program of the squadron for its cruise in the Mediterranean.

The legation is now pressing the porte to refund the customs duty paid under protest on consignments of educational material destined for the American schools at Beirut, Syria, and elsewhere. It is recognized that these consignments are entitled to import such articles free of duty.

NO BIDS FOR ZAFIRO.

Washington, Feb. 28.—No bids have been received at the navy department for the steel tugboat Zafiro, although it had been advertised for sale for six weeks past. The vessel was appraised at $27,000.

MRS. CORLEY AT SIOUX FALLS.

SioUX Falls, S. D., Feb. 28.—Mrs. E. E. Corley, wife of President Corley of the United States Steel corporation, arrived in Sioux Falls today from the west. She has taken apartments here for an indefinite period. She refused to be interviewed.

PROF. LANGLEY, FAMOUS SCIENTIST, DEAD.

PROF. S. F. LANGLEY.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Prof. Samuel P. Langley died at Aiken, S. C., yesterday. He had a slight stroke of paralysis on Nov. 22, which affected his right side. He was gradually recovering from the stroke, when, on the advice of his physician, he went South. His mental faculties were unimpaired, and he occasionally attended to business matters prior to his departure.

The immediate cause of his death was not stated in the brief telegram sent from Aiken to the Smithsonian Institution officials. He was accompanied to Aiken by a niece and an attendant.

Prof. Langley was 72 years of age. His whole life has been devoted to scientific work. Though by profession a civil engineer and architect, astronomer occupied most of his time. He conducted a series of experiments with a flying machine at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on the Potomac river, the results of which were watched with widespread interest.

Several years ago Prof. Langley's scientific career covered a wide range of subjects, and included work in various institutions, trips to Europe in visiting foreign observatories and other institutions there, and he has accompanied the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution since 1887. His published writings include more than 1,000 titles.

The body of Prof. Langley will be brought here Thursday. The place of interment will depend on the wishes of the relatives, but it is not improbable that interment will be in Boston, the place of his birth, and where both his parents were buried.

Prof. Langley was a bachelor.

GREENE WAS WELL PAID

Got 10 Per Cent on Time Recorders Sold to Government.

Many Checks Paid to Him Are Introduced in His Trial.

Washington, Feb. 28.—When the trial of George E. Greene, under indictment on charges of conspiracy, was resumed today, J. L. Willard, former secretary of the International Time Recording company, identified a check which he said was drawn by the International company, Sept. 30, 1901, in favor of George E. Greene for $225. This was in payment of commissions, he said, due Mr. Greene on the sale of clocks and supplies to the government. He testified to the company's ledger, he testified that there was due the defendant in commissions at the time the check was drawn the sum of $231.31.

Another check for $325 drawn by the International company in favor of the defendant was offered. Mr. Worthington for the defense objected to its admission. He said there is an indictment charging bribery pending against the defendant in which this check figured for which reason he declared it should not be admitted in evidence in this trial on conspiracy charges. The court overruled the objection.

Other checks were introduced which were identified by the witness as having been drawn by the International Time Recording company in favor of Greene for commissions.

The defense objected to the introduction of these checks on the same grounds as stated for the check for $225, but they were admitted in evidence. The witness was asked if Mr. Greene received a commission delivered to the postmaster at Goldsboro, N. C. He replied that he could not tell as the account was not itemized. The defendant he said drew a salary from the company. Asked if Mr. Greene received 10 per cent on all sales of time recorders and supplies to the postoffice department, witness replied in the affirmative.

Capetown Tailor Invents One Suitable for All Occasions.

Capetown, Feb. 28.—A remarkable coat has just been invented by Sydney Banks, a tailor of this city. With this coat in his suit case, a traveler may face almost any social contingency. A frock coat at first sight, it can be changed into a morning coat, dress coat by whipping off the skirt and lacing on another, which will join the body of the garment at a line not to be distinguished from an ordinary seam. It is claimed that the invention is a great advantage to all travelers, its cheapness and portability recommending it to those who spend a great deal of time on the road.

OPPOSES RATE BILL

Senator Foraker Takes Strong Ground Against President's Pet Measure.

Says Elkins Bill Will Accomplish Everything, With Amendments.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Immediately after the conclusion of the routine business of the senate today Mr. Foraker took the floor to deliver his promised speech on the railroad rate question. The announcement that he was to speak had the effect of filling the galleries and there also was a large attendance of senators. Today the senator departed from his custom of extemporaneous speaking and read from manuscript. He received careful attention.

Mr. Foraker conceded that some evils existed in connection with the railroad rates, but he urged that all of them could be more effectively met by amending the Elkins law than by passing the pending bill. He announced his regret at differing with the president, but said he could not see his way clear to pursue any other course.

Referring to the Elkins law he said: "There has been no serious attempt to enforce this law to prevent discrimination."

BREAKS UP BEERFEST

Irate Wife Goes After Husband and Takes Him Home.

Has Hosts at the Merry
Gathering Arrested
For Assault.

An irate wife broke up a beerfest that was being held at the home of Joe and Axel Matel on Garfield avenue last evening.

The name of the woman is given in the complaint sworn out before the assistant city attorney, but it doesn't look like it to print. It bears the appearance of a line of pious type. The clerk who drew the complaint dodged the issue and filled up the space with some marks.

Her husband was drinking beer at the home of the Matels last evening, and his wife sent the children to bring home their errand father. The children kept dodging in and out, and the host commanded them either to come in or go home.

This morning the woman appeared before the assistant city attorney and demanded a complaint. She got it, and the brothers were arraigned before Judge Windom this afternoon on the charge of assault. John Gonska appeared for them in his capacity as interpreter, attorney and general adviser. Through him they pleaded guilty, and explained their side of the story to the court.

"They had a beerfest there last night," said the woman, "and it ended up in a fight. It couldn't be a beerfest unless they had a scrap. It seems to be a pretty badly mixed up affair, but the woman was not hurt. They pushed her and losted her and possibly landed her one, but couldn't have been a hard one."

"Of course, I understand the circumstances of the case," said Judge Windom, "and the woman probably was not hurt, but at the same time they have no right to strike a woman. I'll fine them $5 apiece and they can divide the costs between them."

RATES OF DUTIES

For German Imports Continued by Proclamation of President.

Washington, Feb. 28.—President Roosevelt today issued a proclamation imposing the rates of duties provided by Section 3 of the Dingley act upon imports from Germany in return for Germany's concession of minimum tariff rates on United States products.

The articles and the rates of duty named in the president's proclamation, are the same as those now in force, but which would have been terminated today but for the recent action of the German government in giving this country the benefit of its minimum tariff.

Harleys Bring Damage
Suit Against Troyer
and Fiskett.

Claim They Were Roughly Handled Without Any Cause.

Moses Harley, the former Lake avenue saloonkeeper and Fanny Harley, his wife, have instituted damage suits aggregating $2,500 against Chauncey R. Troyer, chief of police and Anthony G. Fiskett, a member of the local police department.

The claim for damages is based on the charge by the Harleys that the police officials in February, 1905, forcibly entered their abode and assaulted, beat and arrested Moses Harley and took him to headquarters, without warrant and that they also assaulted and kicked Mrs. Harley in such manner that she was sick for six months and was unable to attend to her household duties.

Harley demands $1,000 general damages for his humiliation, loss of time and expense of defending himself in court, and $500 for the loss of the services of his wife for six months.

Mrs. Harley wants $1,000 damages for her alleged ill treatment and injuries, claiming she was given a terrible nervous shock from which she has not recovered.

Moses Harley was arrested at his home on the afternoon of Feb. 14, 1905. He claims that he was just sitting down to dinner when Officer Fiskett knocked and told him that the chief wanted to see him at headquarters. Harley claims that he said he would go as soon as he had finished his dinner and that he went to the chief's office. Harley claims that he was taken to the police station and that he was held there for several hours. He claims that he was beaten and that he was taken to the police station and that he was held there for several hours. He claims that he was beaten and that he was taken to the police station and that he was held there for several hours.

The answer of the officers has not been filed, though Harley's reply has and in it he admits that he had in his possession two faucets which were claimed to have been stolen from the police station, but says he was an innocent purchaser and that he was when the owner asked for them. He also denies that he, Pettin, Pronitz or Mrs. Harley offered any resistance to the officers, and charges that the officers promised that they would not molest him if he would permit them to search the premises without a warrant.

Mrs. Harley's complaint sets forth the alleged assault on her husband by Officer Fiskett. She claims that neither she nor Pettin or Pronitz offered any resistance to the officers, and that Harley and herself were assaulted and injured by the officer without any cause or provocation. J. D. Holmes appears for the Harleys.

The case has been noted to come on for trial during the March term of district court.

Governor of Nanchang
Will Make Any Reasonable Reparation.

Pekin, Feb. 28.—The government has instructed the governor of Nanchang, Kiangsi, to make reparation to the British subjects who were killed in the massacre and declares its willingness to make without question any reasonable reparation demanded. Many foreigners at Pekin know the governor of Nanchang and consider him efficient and friendly. They believe his version of the troubles and credit his statement that he was unable to prevent the disturbances. American, British and German gunboats are proceeding to the nearest possible point to Nanchang. River navigation is seldom safe beyond Poyang lake. British and German gunboats have been stationed at the lake for the last two years despite frequent Chinese protests that it was an infringement of China's sovereignty.

SANTO DOMINGO TREATY

Will be Reported Favorably by the Senate Committee.

Washington, Feb. 28.—The senate committee on foreign relations today, by a party vote, agreed to report favorably the Santo Domingo treaty. A number of amendments were made to the treaty before it was reported. Two sections were added to the treaty intended to more definitely protect the United States in all monetary dealings with the creditors of the Dominican republic.

They made it plain that the United States shall not be liable for any claims against Santo Domingo or any award which results from the adjudication of any claims. "In the opinion of some members of the committee, these amendments were necessary to also protect the interests of the United States, while others thought they were unnecessary but accepted them on account of the desire of other senators.

The other amendments were verbal and did not materially change the treaty.

TO HANDLE THE GRAIN

McGuire & Atwood Take Charge of Elevator
Fire Salvage.

Minneapolis Firm to Relieve Insurance Men of it Now.

Whether the grain which was saved from the Peavey elevator fire is to be sold at once or not, it is to be removed from the scene as fast as possible. McGuire & Atwood, grain dealers who have an office in the Duluth Board of Trade building, have undertaken to handle the grain for the insurance adjusters.

The firm was commissioned this morning to handle the grain and several ty-fue men were put at work at the burned elevator right away. The grain will be handled through the Republic elevator company.

It is generally understood that McGuire & Atwood are to handle the grain for the insurance companies on a commission. This is not the first job of this kind that the firm has accomplished. Men will be kept working steadily until the grain is housed. If the snowstorm which threatened this morning and materialized, the work would have been greatly hampered, although the heat to the six exposed grain may yet be further damaged before all of it is removed.

On the heels of the reports that no grain in the concrete tanks attached to the burned elevator was damaged, comes the following statement in the Chicago Record-Herald:

"Claims have been filed with the companies for loss on the grain in the concrete tanks attached to the Peavey elevator at Duluth, but they carry no estimate as yet of the amount of the damage. It was previously reported that no damage was done to the tanks, although the heat to the six exposed and insured was very intense. It is now said that one of the tanks has a crack in it two inches wide and several feet long, and that the flames burst forth as soon as the air was admitted. The report notes the need of a considerable lining with an air space, for steel tanks.

While a claim is mentioned by the Chicago paper has been filed, no damage to the grain in the concrete tanks has been reported. The loss to grain in the tanks is not known. The loss to the grain in the tanks is not known. The loss to the grain in the tanks is not known.

Since the fire several inspections of the grain in the concrete tanks have been made and no damage has been disclosed. The loss to the grain in the tanks is not known. The loss to the grain in the tanks is not known. The loss to the grain in the tanks is not known.

When the grain is running between the tanks, a hole about two feet in diameter was made in one of the tanks, but the grain in the tank did not come up nearer than thirty feet to the hole and it was undamaged after the fire.

PINE PURCHASE

Backus-Brooks Company
Secures 80,000,000

One of the largest purchases of Northern white pine made in recent years has just been completed by the Backus-Brooks Lumber company of Minneapolis. The purchase covers over 80,000,000 feet of standing pine in Northern Minnesota and in Canada, and was purchased from the Keweenaw Lumber & Manufacturing company of Keweenaw, Ont. The larger part of the timber purchased is said to be located in Itasca county and is close to a sawmill that the Backus-Brooks company expects to establish at International Falls.

SURPLUS IN TREASURY OVER EXPENDITURES.

Washington, Feb. 28.—For the first time since May 1, 1904, when the government made its payment of $5,000,000 for the Panama canal property, and $4,000,000 loans to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, the treasury today shows a surplus of receipts over expenditures. The surplus today amounts to $1,102,003. This is regarded by the treasury officials as a remarkably fine showing, especially in view of the fact that the expenditures since July 1 last, on account of public works, exceed those for the corresponding period last year by nearly $12,000,000.

AWAKENING GIANT.

China's Boycott and Its Meaning to the World.

Dr. W. A. P. Martin, perhaps the greatest living authority on China, tells in the World's Work for January some startling new facts about a great educational and commercial revolution now taking place under the direction of the empress dowager and the emperor. He says:

No account of this wonderful awakening can omit to recognize the agency of Chang, the viceroy of Central China. A senior optimus in the Orient classic, his conversion to the new school of thought was accomplished by the victory of Japan ten years ago. Scarcely had the smoke of battle cleared away when he wrote for his subordinates a book of instructions, entitled "Education, China's Only Hope." Laid before the throne it had, along with Kang, not a little share in impelling the young emperor to enter on that precipitate career of reform which caused his downfall. Distributed by imperial command, it also prepared the way for reform on a national scale.

He has Japanese drill masters to train his troops, if necessary, to resist Japan, and he has had experts in the arts from America, Great Britain and Germany to prepare his people for a commercial conflict with the great nations of the West. The banks of the river in front of his capital, Wuchang, are lined for miles with cotton mills, hempworks, silk flatures, glassworks, iron foundries and powder mills, whose deafening hums proclaim the coming war. When China can supply her own markets, foreign steamers will cease to ascend the Yangtszekiang.

Going within the walls we are struck by the great number of fine school houses in foreign style that rise above the huts of the natives. Our clever viceroy knows that the industrial science must be taught in schools. He thus proclaims from the housetops his gospel of the new education. He has embodied it in a book of rhymes, which are sung by his soldiers to the heat of the drum, and transmitted to memory by all the school children in a population of 50,000,000.

The empress dowager and all her grandees have become converts to Chang's new gospel. Not merely has she re-enacted the emperor's ordinance for the establishment of graded schools, but she has taken a still more revolutionary step in abolishing the old tests (polished essays and lining verse) and ordering that the high-grade degrees shall be conferred on students of the new universities. China will thus have millions of her brightest intellects competing in every line of scientific study and investigation.

INVENTORY IS FINISHED!

The first inventory since The Columbia seized the reins at the old Burrows corner has just been completed.

We find that a number of the stocks need further adjustment before the bulk of newly arriving spring stock is placed in position.

At any rate it's a trifle early to push spring goods to the front, although we are ready to show new suits, hats, shoes and other things to all who are in the habit of buying early.

The first half of the month of March will be devoted to the final clearing of stocks. Nothing like an inventory to show what ought to be done. Nothing like a big cut-price sale to do it.

It's being prepared to-day, and will be announced before the end of the week. Look for it, wait for it and be on the spot when the sale opens.

CALL GENERAL CONFERENCE

Coal Operators to Meet in Deference to President's Wishes.

Pittsburg, Feb. 28.—The conference of bituminous coal operators of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, called for today by Francis L. Robbins, chairman of the Pittsburg Coal company, in response to President Roosevelt's letter, urging him to make an effort to avert the threatened general strike on April 1, is expected to be interesting in its developments.

Before the meeting opened today it was generally conceded that the proposition to grant the miners a 5.5 percent advance would be laid before the operators of the four states in the interstate agreement, and that it would meet with opposition from some of the independent operators, who freely expressed themselves as against granting any increase in wages at this time.

The conference opened shortly before noon, and all but members of the state committees were excluded.

New York, Feb. 28.—The anthracite miners' demands, as formulated by the committee of seven, were forwarded to the operators last night, according to a statement today by John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America. He said the demands were sent to George F. Baer, president of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company. He said, also, that he did not look for a meeting between the miners' committee and operators until arrangements for such a conference are made by the operators.

Washington, Feb. 28.—When the senate committee on interoceanic canals convened today, Senator Morgan was not prepared to take up his examination of William Nelson Cromwell for nearly half an hour. He spent the time reading the records. When he resumed, the inquiry was in return to the plan for the Americanization of the Panama canal.

Question after question were asked by Mr. Morgan, and the witness replied to each one. "I make the same reply," said Mr. Cromwell, "I make the same reply."

THE OCCULTATION OF ALDEBARAN ON FRIDAY

By J. H. Darling.

The attention of those who are astronomically inclined, is invited to the occultation, or eclipse, of the bright star Aldebaran by the moon, which will occur on Friday evening, March 2, at 9:11 o'clock central standard time.

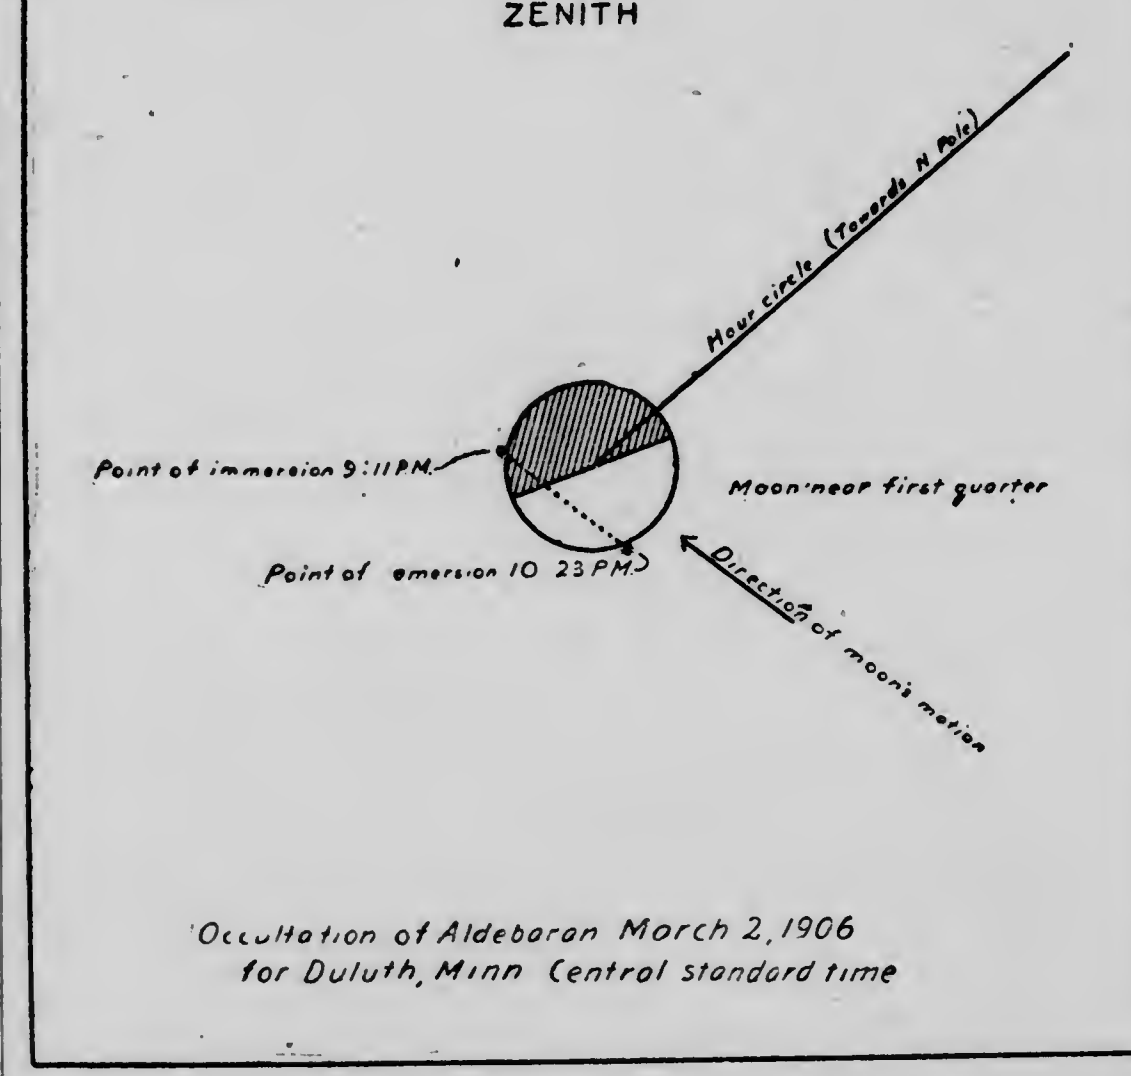

The path of the moon in its course for this month passes over this star and suddenly extinguishes its light.

This event will be less spectacular than the recent eclipse of the moon, and yet it should well repay one for the few minutes' time required to witness it.

cultured by the moon's dark limb, which is invisible and at a little distance from the bright surface. The diagram herewith shows the point of immersion (occultation), and also the point of emersion or where the star reappears on the other side of the moon. The diagram is not claimed to be strictly accurate but is probably nearly enough so to be of some aid to the observer.

The occultation can be seen with the naked eye, but better with a telescope, or a field glass or an opera glass. The star will disappear instantly, without the least warning, and with startling effect.

The observer should set his watch by the time ball at noon or by one of the self winding clocks showing U. S. Observatory time which are found in many of the business places in the city, so as to have correct central standard time.

It will be well to begin looking a minute or two before the stated time of occultation to allow for possible errors in the time which may amount to half a minute or more. It will relieve the eye to screen the bright and dazzling surface of the moon by looking over the edge of a paper or board, in case of observing with the naked eye.

The emersion, or reappearance of the star, which occurs one hour and twelve minutes later may be observed, but as it comes out from the bright side of the moon the star cannot be distinguished readily until it gets a little away from the moon, and so will be less interesting.

In the preparations of the above diagram I have been aided by the use of a fine chart of this occultation, giving the phases for the United States, made by Prof. H. J. Wessling, S. J., of Woodstock College, Md., and published in Popular Astronomy for February.

ILLNESS OF LEADERS

Causes Postponement of Debate in the House of Commons.

London, Feb. 28.—In consequence of the illness of both Arthur J. Balfour and Joseph Chamberlain, the latter being confined to his bed by an attack of influenza, Chancellor of the Exchequer Asquith agreed, in the house of commons this afternoon, to an adjournment of the fiscal debate, fixed for tomorrow. Mr. Asquith, amid shouts of laughter, remarked in the debate that their absence would be equivalent to a performance of "Hamlet" in the absence of not only the prince, but also of the Ghost. He would not presume to allocate the parts between the twin.

Mayor Cullum Heads the List With B. J. Cook Second.

What it costs to be elected to office is told by the statements of expense which have been filed with the city clerk by all the successful candidates at the recent election.

The limit which the law allows the aldermen to spend is $250, but the mayor and the judge might have spent about $100 more without transgressing. According to the sworn statements, Mayor Cullum expended $22.40 of his own money in his campaign, while his opponent, Thomas Trevillion, admits spending $10 of his money.

B. J. Cook, the defeated candidate for the position of alderman from the Fourth ward, was second on the list, with an expenditure of $18.75. It cost Judge Cullum $145.50 to pile up his large majority, and George Van Curen spent $107 in defeating J. J. Cook. B. K. Walker turned $750 into the Fourth ward political pot, and Frederick Knapp contributed $12.25, making a total of $341 which was expended in the ward.

S. E. Staples expended $85.50 in his fight against Ole Jensen, and Frank Jordan had $16 worth of oil with Alderman Waugh in the Third ward. The primary fight cost Alderman Haven just $5.50, and James Foulister had to dig $45.00 to beat John Eklund. Charles Mark expended $5.25 and his opponent, Charles Skoglund, got rid of $23.13. The First ward fight was a poor man's war, the Alderman McEwen was touched for $12.50 and his opponent, Fred Eklund, squandered but $2.25 on his political aspirations.

Some of the unsuccessful candidates, including John H. Brigham and James A. Waugh, have not yet filed their expense accounts, but they have thirty days in which to do it.

All of the officers elected have taken their oaths of office before the city clerk today, being the last day of which they might be sworn in. The aldermen met at 10 o'clock and held their first meeting next Monday night, although the new council will not be formally organized until one week from Tuesday.

Some of the unsuccessful candidates, including John H. Brigham and James A. Waugh, have not yet made any announcement regarding their appointments, but there are not likely to be any important changes.

most serious character and some of them, in my judgment, fatal.

Regarding the bill of congress to make rates, he declared:

"The supreme court has never yet passed on the constitutionality of that there are many eminent lawyers who think that the opinion that the bill is unconstitutional does decide that question, that congress does not have that power."

"Their reasoning," he said, "seems to me to be sound, and the effect of it is to make the bill unconstitutional for all practical purposes."

Mr. Foraker said that if the bill is to become a law it should contain a court review provision. On that point he said:

"Fortunately some of the most important of the questions which are now before the courts, but the power to review the constitutionality of the bill is not in the hands of the courts, it is in the hands of congress."

He then declared that little or no legislation is needed and that the bill, as amended, is sufficient if enacted. He pointed out that the Hepburn bill does not deal with rates, but with the power of congress to regulate interstate commerce.

LADY MACCABEES

Of Hibbing Give Successful Dance for Benefit Fund.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lady Maccabees of Hibbing gave a dance at Close's hall on Monday evening.

The orchestra of Duluth furnished the music in a very fine style. About 150 couples attended. A splendid supper was served to all those present. The Lady Maccabees of Hibbing give their dances annually, and they are always looked forward to by the society people of the range. This dance was the most successful ever held in Hibbing, and those in management certainly deserve great credit. The proceeds of the dance will be used to aid members in sickness and distress.

Watching NEW SUITS Come and Go Is Interesting.

—Coming by almost every train and going again by reason of their elegance into the "wardrobe" of Duluth's women.

Suits that appeal to those women who treasure individuality in dress; distinctive suits—many of them coming in only one of a style, and thus even more desirable in their exclusiveness.

And, having exercised great care in making our selections from among the finest products of the world's best makers, our customers can feel doubly sure of being "right" in any selection they may make from this beautiful showing of spring models.

The beautiful Eton, bolero Eton and pony jacket models we've been showing, cause many exclamations of admiration among admiring women—not only in that they are so fetching and so delightful in their smart, chic effects, but that such a reasonable price accompanies each model.

It's only commendable in a woman that she shall endeavor to know where she can obtain entire satisfaction, most quickly and easily. And women who "shop round" recognize the superiority of the values given here—"everything equal but the price," they say—and buy accordingly.

Hints of the NEWEST IDEAS In New SPRING COATS.

There are the pretty little 21-inch models in black broadcloths and covert cloth—the little boxed effects in the new 26-inch lengths—plain and strap trimmings—satin lined throughout—$10.00 to $20.00.

Also the three-quarter length coats for early spring, in fancy mixtures, velvet inlaid collar and cuff, button trimmed—veritable "gems" at only $22.50.

The finest materials, the best styles, the newest effects we can buy—and they are ONLY the best. Both Sheer and Linen WAISTS.

Hard matter to tell much of the genuine beauty of these hundreds of waists.

There are sheer handkerchief linens, batistes, lawns, or the heavier linens and beautiful linen waists—either plain or the very elaborate fancy waists, embodying the new and novel effects possible in the detail finishing—some with lace insertions and embroidered effects—a great many with all-over embroidery fronts.

Both the short and long sleeve styles abound and button either in front or back. Prices to suit every taste. 98c to $18.50 each.

ing over $1 per yard can be effected by the purchase of crushed rock out side and shipping it in. Mayor Jessmore of Eveleth, some time ago, proposed that the cities of Eveleth and Virginia join in the purchase of a crusher and operate it jointly, but the members of the Virginia council are of the opinion that this city should own a crusher itself and it is probable that bids will soon be advertised for the same.

The council granted liquor licenses last evening for two new saloons in the Hamm Brewing company's building, recently erected on the corner of Chestnut street and Central avenue. Many citizens have objected to the granting of these licenses because the brewing company put up only a one-story building on what is considered the best corner of the city. A representative of the company came up from St. Paul and assured the council that it was the original intention of the company to put up a hotel building to cost $25,000, but just about that time the proprietor of the Pay put on a large addition to his house and prospective lessees of the Hamm building backed out. Therefore the company decided to put up a one-story building, with the intention of adding another story as soon as demand for room would make it pay. He promised that the second story would be built in the near future and the council, on this promise, the council granted the licenses.

An ordinance regulating the matter of running trains inside the village limits received its first reading and aroused considerable debate. President Kimball thought the ordinance altogether too strict. City Attorney Shea said it was copied from the ordinance of the Duluth ordinance on the same subject. Mayor Eaton thought the ordinance defective because it did not regulate the speed at which trains may be run within the village limits.

City Engineer Johnson, whose salary had been fixed at $5 per day and his helpers' at $3 per day each, sent in a communication asking $1 per hour for himself and 50 cents per hour for each helper. THE STAGE

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTION.

METROPOLITAN—"Miss New York, Jr."

COMING ATTRACTION.

LYCEUM—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Elks show, "King O'Keefe."

"MISS NEW YORK, JR." The "Miss New York, Jr." company will give a matinee for ladies at the Metropolitan tomorrow afternoon and hand some souvenirs will be presented by the management to all ladies who attend. The Thursday evening performance is a new one for ladies as well. "The King O'Keefe," which is the title of the two-act sketch which the organization is presenting, seems to be making a substantial hit with the patrons of the "Met."

"THE DUKE OF DULUTH." Next Wednesday and Thursday "The Duke of Duluth" with Nat Wells, will be at the Lyceum. It is one of those old-fashioned musical fantasies that has rhythm and some of the best of the comedy that appeals to its auditors. Mr. Wells has been more than fortunate in his selection of "The Duke of Duluth," as it gives him an opportunity to show to excellent advantage his entire range of talents. The Duke is a type of character with which he has been identified for a score of years. The theme is a new and original one, with a vein of comedy and melody throughout the entire play, interspersed with catchy numbers by a chorus of clever singing comedienne, arrayed in fetching costumes.

ENGLISH GRAND OPERA. Until Henry W. Savage entered the amusement world in this city, the English Grand Opera company, which Duluth is to enjoy at the Lyceum theater, March 9 and 10, every impression that had attempted to sustain a company to give grand opera in Duluth.

The history of grand opera in English dates back fifty years, but only in the past ten years has it become a reality. The first grand opera company in the world was founded in London, and the music-loving public of that city has since the endeavor. Its work each season has met with increased success. The repertoire has been gradually enlarged until now Mr. Savage has to his credit no less than eight-three masterpieces produced in the mother tongue. Over forty-five hundred performances have been given and the company has gone on its way with unbroken financial and artistic success.

The question of popularizing grand opera classes by giving them on our own language and at prices within the reach of all classes is a question that Mr. Savage's company this season represents the best effort of his entire career. The favorite artists of last year's companies have been combined into one superb organization of over 150 people. There is over a score of prima donnas, tenors, baritones and basses and a fine choral body of conservatory-trained singers, ambitious and talented.

Hardly one of these that has not an opportunity to unrolling. Many of them being fitted to take a prima donna role on an hour's notice.

One of the soundest features of the company is the splendid orchestra, of orchestra, of symphony musicians. These number nearly fifty, many of them soloists. As conductors Mr. Savage has two of the best equipped grand opera directors in America. Mr. Emanuel has had thirty years' experience in leading European opera houses, possessing a repertoire of 15 masterpieces.

Redfield-Much interest is manifested in this part of the state in the dispatches from Indianapolis to the effect that the American Society of Equity has concluded a membership of 20,000 farmers and that the members have determined not to sell their products after March 1, except at the minimum price agreed on by the officers of the society.

For the last six months agents of the society have been at work in South Dakota, organizing local societies, and have met with success far beyond their expectations. Those who are joining in great numbers, and shrewd business men are becoming convinced that these products that will be able to exert a marked influence on the prices of farm products. Conditions here are more favorable to the project of this kind than in the middle and Eastern states, as the percentage of the farmers is comparatively small and the great majority of the farmers are so situated that they will not have to dispose of their produce as soon as possible in order to hold for higher prices. The farmers of Spink county will meet here in March to perfect their local organization.

According to the early suggestions of fashion the spring and summer of 1906 is when the athletic girl will pass away and in her place will come the adorable fluffy, tantalizingly fussy, femininely frivolous young creature of the past generation. "The athletic girl is all right on the poster, but the fluffy girl gets the men," George Ade's wise remark might be taken as the keynote of the spring things for women and the first glimpses are making susceptible feminine creatures sigh with longing in their voices, "I wish I had a million dollars." She needs it. For ravishing variety, stupendous detail, bewildering colors, the spring of 1906 seems to be unrivaled. "Serviceable" is a word that one is perfect Philistine to even utter. Who would want serviceable things when the dearest sort of little coats, or even jackets, are offered all trimmed with the wecest ruffles of lace, just quantities of them, and the sheerest voile effect, over silk and abbreviated sleeves are let into shorter coats and the most extravagant colors are shown and seemingly nothing else? When the exquisite coral pinks, and the lovely Alice blues and the cool-looking reseda greens and the demure Quakerish grays are shown heaped together, it positively makes one's head whirl.

"It almost seems that this coming summer will see the exit of woman from business life, for no business woman can wear the wonderful whirls of daintiness shown, for at least seven-eighths of the time, and the eternal womanly will persuade her to leave business if she possibly can, and usually there's some sort of man waiting around to help her to the step. This is all rather on the side, but the bewildering beauty of the spring and summer styles was spoken of recently by one of the Duluth fashion men who has recently returned from the East where he revealed in the thoughts and things for the coming summer. He said, in speaking of the styles and fashions:

"The season will be without doubt the most varied that women have ever known. It will be one of the radical changes and lacy fluff effects in linen or light wool gowns will be the order of the day. Everything will be fused up with lace or braid or button. The long glove which gives an air of drossy completeness to a costume is assuring the success of the short sleeved jacket and absurd as it is called by men, women seem to want them and they are the thing for this coming season. The popular color for the season will be coral, in the range of hues which will be offered. The other colors that will be offered are shades of the spring and the greens will hold their degree of favor. Lilac is the new shade. In the grays which will be very good, the Alice gray, the Queen's gray and imperial gray will be the smartest shades. Peacock blue, a softened pastel shade, more vivid than an Alice blue and of a softer tone than turquoise, is one of the new colors being brought out, and will be very smart. The delicate shade known as biscuit will be worn by smartly dressed women. Then in the creams striking and beautiful effects are being produced in serges in fine hair lines, and a touch of blue or red, and the costume brightened up with touches of velvet or soutache braid, button or lace.

"The materials are very light and fluffy in imported voiles, veillings and wool batistes. And whatever the woman of fashion does she must not overlook the fact that the material be of sheer light fabric. It will be absolutely smart and sporty to have a hat to match. They will return to Stevenson, Minn., where they will be at home.

"The season in its splendor of color and extravagance suggests the classic and the woman of fashion will adorn herself with numerous little novelties. Among the most interesting of these are the bags that are shown. These wonderfully colored cloths have been exactly matched in leathers and the woman may choose her bag to match her costume. This coloring can not be done and these beautifully colored leathers are all imported."

Correct Empire Gown

Worn by Smart Women

Wealthy women will wear more hand embroidered gowns and waists this spring than ever before, says a New York writer. They have already begun to order designs for shirt waists, morning, afternoon and evening dresses and for lingerie hats. Miss Helen Gould has more than a dozen white shirt waists in linen and Persia lawn to be decorated with small floral patterns in French and shadow embroidery. Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt will be seen in white lawn beautifully ornamented with hand embroidery to the exclusion of almost any other kind of spring and summer robes, for she has filled her wardrobe with them.

The lingerie hats seem to have pleased Mrs. H. M. Flieger and Mrs. E. C. Benedict more than waists or gowns, and they have bought them in all sorts of shapes, from a narrow brim sailor to a wide brimmed driving or afternoon hat, and have selected both small and large designs that are in keeping with the style of the headwear.

Miss Helen Gould likes small floral designs on her waists and has the patterns worked in as inconspicuous places as possible. One of her shirt waists in linen has small forget-me-nots in the front and back about six inches below the neck band. At the bottom of the long sleeves there is a sort of scalloped cuff with a miniature "V" like that on the waist. Around the neck is a band about one and three-quarters wide, which is almost solid with the tiny flowers. Another, quite as simple shape, from a narrow brim sailor to a wide brimmed driving or afternoon hat, and have selected both small and large designs that are in keeping with the style of the headwear.

It is really almost like French embroidery with half the stitches omitted. In this way by working the design on the inside the shadow of the delicate holds out the linen or lawn so that the decoration looks like a medallion set in and held in place by the stitches that are visible on the outside.

Pretty Spring Wraps for Young Girls.

Posed by Martha McGraw of "Peter Pan."

White and light colored cloth coats will be smart for little girls' wear this spring. They will have a distinctive style, but yet be made on practically the same lines as those to be worn by the grown-ups. These new models will be used plain, with straight fronts and semi-fitted backs, or in the popular empire style, with a pleated skirt. They will all be three-quarter length. The plain coat has a straight front, trimmed with buttons, and pointed pockets on either side made of a dark colored silk or cloth. The sleeves are full and end in plain cuffs. The turnover collar, of the same material as the pockets, ends in revers. Another pretty little coat made in the empire fashion, has a tight fitting yoke from which the skirt falls in pleats, a double box one in front and single on the sides. There is no trimming except two buttons on the yoke. The full sleeves are finished with cuffs onto which Val. lace is gathered. In another style of empire the yoke fits close to the body, except directly in front, where it forms a wide box pleat. The sides have narrow single pleats. The front and cuffs are trimmed with buttons.

ance, especially if it is pulled on and edged with a narrow pattern in German Val.

One of the handsomest things in white for the early spring or winter resort wear is Mrs. Andrew Carnegie's white broadcloth suit, which is worked with daisies in the French embroidery.

On a very attractive light gray silk Mrs. J. Burden has tiny pink roses embroidered in ribbon. These are delicately outlined with minute French dots cut white and the decoration is most effective.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Stevenson of Lakeside left yesterday afternoon for Southern California to spend the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Cone have returned from a visit at West Baden, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. McLaren left yesterday for Bay Claire to be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. O. G. Brice. From there they will go to New York for a trip.

WHAT RETAIL MARKETS OFFER.

Wine sap apples, 45 cents a dozen.

Shad, 75 cents each.

Red cabbage, 10 cents each.

Cucumbers, 20 cents each.

The first shad of the season for Duluth has arrived in the market for those people who have the wherewithal they shall be fed, may purchase this delicacy and eat it plunked in the accepted way and incidentally serve a cucumber salad with it, with cucumbers, 20 cents each. The shad is delicious to look at and suggests that the wait was worth while.

The year has been one that brought good prices for apples and not only so, but for their favorite variety but it has remained for the past few days for the local markets, to present wine sap apples, which are beautifully named as far as appearance goes. They are those deep red ones, you know, all polished and shining until they look like some idealized fruit, far removed from the ordinary apple. Forty-five cents a dozen, if you please.

Events of Interest.

Mrs. E. C. Henderson entertained the Mungier Whist club yesterday afternoon at her home, 210 Fifteenth avenue east, at luncheon and an afternoon at cards. The prizes for the season were awarded, and were won by Mrs. W. A. Knaake, Mrs. R. M. Morse, and the consolation prize went to Mrs. R. W. Johnson.

This evening Rev. Alexander Milne will present the first of a series of four talks at the Young Women's Christian association rooms on Pennison's great poem, "In Memoriam." A cordial invitation is extended to both men and women to attend these meetings. The first talk will be given this evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. S. V. Davenport of 2 La Ferte flats, entertained at a charming luncheon yesterday, at which she announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Hattie May Davenport, and Francis M. Bismis of Baraga, Mich. Covers were laid for twelve.

Majestic Rebecca Edige will be favored with a visit from Mrs. Jenkins of Ada, Minn., state president of the Rebecca assembly, at its regular meeting tomorrow evening at Old Fellows' hall. All members of the order in the city are invited to attend and meet Mrs. Jenkins.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Lingerie

Hats and Summer Gowns.

Wealthy women will wear more hand embroidered gowns and waists this spring than ever before, says a New York writer. At the bottom of the long sleeves there is a sort of scalloped cuff with a miniature "V" like that on the waist. Around the neck is a band about one and three-quarters wide, which is almost solid with the tiny flowers. Another, quite as simple shape, from a narrow brim sailor to a wide brimmed driving or afternoon hat, and have selected both small and large designs that are in keeping with the style of the headwear.

This kind of hand embroidery is entirely new this year and has been welcomed by the smart women as a change from the French, which is now copied so accurately by the machine work. Shadow embroidery is so called because it really casts a shadow on the outside of the waist, so that just the shade of the design is visible. It is really almost like French embroidery with half the stitches omitted. In this way by working the design on the inside the shadow of the delicate holds out the linen or lawn so that the decoration looks like a medallion set in and held in place by the stitches that are visible on the outside.

This Persian lawn of Miss Gould's is a beautiful shadow design in small or conventional chrysanthemums and is so splendidly executed that the pattern looks as if it had been inserted. The flowers are worked in a sort of round device on the back and front of the waist, on the cuffs and for a band around the neck.

Patterns for decorating waists and gowns lent by Mrs. G. H. P. Belmont are exactly opposite from the ones Miss Gould selected. They are large and showy instead of being small and simple, but are most effective in both shadow and in the French. She has huge roses on long stems. These are worked in an inverted "V" the point being at the bottom of the waist and skirt. The flowers on the waist are a trifle smaller than those on the skirt, and the ones worked on the sleeves from the shoulders to the ends of the cuffs are smaller than either of the others. A fourth size is used on the skirt, so that in one dress she has four styles of nicely graduated blooms with long stems.

Mrs. Vanderbilt likes both the large and small styles of embroidery, but for her simpler dresses she has chosen the small patterns in little flowers or fruits. She seems to be especially fond of cherries done in French embroidery and has them in different sizes on several of her gowns.

The lingerie hats of Mrs. Flieger and Mrs. Benedict are really artistic and decorative. One which the former planned herself has small bunches of roses done in French embroidery, and between them tiny bow knots of narrow white baby ribbon. The under brim is trimmed with three rows of German Val, sewed on so that the edges hang and make a fluffiness around the face that is very becoming.

One of Mrs. Benedict's, a sailor shape that is new in lingerie hats this season, is worked in sweet peas. They are put in small bunches with sweet peas in color are struck, so that the hat is quite elaborate.

Both women have several of these style lingerie head wear made with insertion in the brim, so that the material below the lace looks like a veil.

For a simple morning gown the lingerie net trimmed with a large flower-silk bow and on the white dress a sash of the same ribbon makes a most attractive costume.

So wide is some of this ribbon that many fascinatingly pretty separate waists have been made up with the silk as a background, elaborately trimmed with ruchings of soft lace. A chiffon or lace fluff always adds to the picturesque effect given by a large flower design. Reception gowns, too, are being made almost entirely of ribbon. If it is edged with blue satin or the gown may be formed of alternate strips of blue satin and of the ribbon, no other trimming being necessary on the skirt, while the bodice is decorated in some soft and becoming way with chiffon, lace and tiny velvet bow knots. The color of the flowers in the ribbon is sure to blend exquisitely with the rows of plain satin, that is if the edge of the ribbon is perfectly matched.

Carrying out this same idea are the gowns composed of long brocade or tulle coats, with skirts of lace or chiffon. This style is now popular for evening as well as afternoon, for the low cut bodice with folds of lace about the neck looks quite appropriate even for a jacket. In some models the coat reaches to the end of the skirt, but in others there is more lace to be seen, as the jacket is only a medium length three-quarters. The tight lace is unquestionably handsome, although there are some rather effective empire models made with silk coat and lace skirts.

For a theater costume the gown of brocade and lace is at present extremely fashionable. In this the jacket opens over a vest in yoke of lace, embroidered perhaps in old gold and in different tones of silk. Below the embroidered yoke is a vest formed probably of ruchings of Valenciennes lace between shirred bands of chiffon, and this design is the same as that on the petticoat or white skirt, for the jacket does not fasten over even at the belt.

Soft, delicate shades are always attractive, but bright and conspicuous shades are more in demand. For pale colorings a champagne gown is more attractive than the white. In satin pearl or faint gray shows up deep pink or blue better than the dead white, and soft and becoming way with chiffon, lace and tiny velvet bow knots. The color of the flowers in the ribbon is sure to blend exquisitely with the rows of plain satin, that is if the edge of the ribbon is perfectly matched.

Use of Unselfishness

To attain unselfishness seems like acquiring a virtue of the angels, but it isn't. People talk about an "unselfish" woman as though she were endowed with a saintly quality, and praise it accordingly. Few have grasped that she who has learned to be what is called "unselfish" by subordinating self as achieved happiness, and that it isn't what one has, but what one is for others, that is worth more than anything for one self.

There's no doubt that human nature is selfish, wishing everything for the ego, but human nature is also built on such lines that the more it has the more it wishes. No woman on earth ever was perfectly happy, because, however much she may have in the eyes of others there is always something which she has not, but desires.

If one dwells upon the lack one becomes dissatisfied, discontented, peevish and altogether miserable. Every woman knows this. If she is willing to admit the truth to herself, if, on the other hand, she is willing to make a strenuous effort to forget what she has not in being thankful for what she has, she begins to achieve unselfishness and the happiness follows.

Privation and sorrow was in it for every woman a germ of good. It has two flavors, figuratively speaking, a bitter and a sweet. None ever lived without it in some form or another, and on one's own strength of character depends the effect. A woman who allows herself to dwell upon her unhappiness becomes selfish in the extreme. Every person who comes in contact with her is made to feel either unhappy themselves or uncomfortable. She herself finds everything tainted with bitterness, and, thinking always of herself, puts into life difficulties and bitterness that taint everything.

The woman who becomes unselfish from sorrow or disappointment gets sweetness of character and helps all with whom she comes in contact. She has suffered so herself as to wish to spare others, and if she can make one person forget their, divert amuse or seriously help, she wishes to do it. With this kind of a spirit if her daily life she herself grows happy.

She is not an embodied saint, this type of woman, nor does she go about with an exalted and superior expression. She is simply conscious that life is difficult for all, frequently when one least expects it. Therefore, it behooves her ever to be at her best, always to have sympathy of manner, kindness of heart and interest in others. Given this, she acquires a grace of which she herself is unconscious, but every one who comes in contact with her has experienced the sweetening and refining effect of her sorrow, though they may never know what it is.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

HAD A ROYAL REPORTER.

Denmark's King, When Crown Prince, Wrote for Official Paper.

Copenhagen, Feb. 28.—Frederick VIII, the new king of Denmark, the eldest son of Queen Alexandra of England, and the uncle and father-in-law of her daughter, the new queen of Norway, of all the crowned heads of Europe is probably the only one who ever turned journalist, for the time being even. The members of the royal houses of England and the czar have enjoyed nothing so much in their lives as that when visiting Copenhagen they have been allowed to walk along the streets like other citizens. Their presence attracts little or no attention, and they are never stared at by crowds as in some countries. The members of the royal family of Denmark mingle freely with all classes and nothing is thought of it. They even amuse themselves with various occupations and it is regarded as not being out of the way.

The new king has but seldom identified himself with politics though he would hold it up against him if he did provide the empty vessel for the influence of the throne. The occasion when he turned journalist was years ago when still crown prince. The left party came into power for the first time and replaced the old conservative government belonging to the right. The leading and official journal of Copenhagen contained some long political articles of which the crown prince was the author. The articles were not signed, but the fact of the crown prince having written them was reported in the other papers and was never denied. The fact that the crown prince was writing the articles seemed to surprise, every one regarding it merely a matter of course. The authorities and other persons had been called into question at all if it had not happened that the articles were particularly well written.

KIELY SECURES POSTPONEMENT OF Hearing by Injunction to Board of Police Commissioners.

St. Louis, Feb. 28.—Suspended Chief of Police M. Kiely was placed on trial before the board of police commissioners yesterday on charges that he had deserted his post in time of need, permitted gambling and other improper houses to flourish, failed to eradicate graft from the police department, and had instructed a subordinate officer to make a false report concerning an arrest. How to Exercise the Bowels

Your intestines are lined inside with millions of little suckers, that draw the Nutrition out of food as it passes them. But, if the food passes too slowly, it decays before it gets through. Then the little suckers draw Poison from it instead of Nutrition.

This Poison makes a Gas that injures your system more than the food should have nourished it.

You see, the food is Nourishment or Poison, just according to how long it stays in transit.

They do not waste any precious fluid of the Bowels, as Cathartics do. They do not relax the Intestines by greasing them inside like Castor Oil or Glycerine.

They simply stimulate the Bowel Muscles to do their work naturally, comfortably, and nutritiously.

And, the Exercise these Bowel Muscles are thus forced to take, makes them stronger for the future, just as Exercise makes your arm stronger.

They are put up purposely in thin, flat, round-cornered Enamel boxes, so they can be carried in a man's vest pocket, or in a woman's purse, all the time, without bulk or trouble.

Price 10c a box at all druggists.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "C.C.C."

It merely flushes out the Bowels with a waste of Digestive Juice, set flowing into the Intestines through the tiny suckers.

But, the Digestive Juice we waste in doing this today is needed for tomorrow's natural Digestion. We cannot afford to lose it.

That's why Cascarets are the only safe medicine for the bowels.

OPINIONS OF PEOPLE OF FIELD IS LOCATED

Subject of Street Car Ventilation Has Aroused Much Discussion. By Means of Bobber and Syndicate Will Bore Wells.

Manager Warren Gives Nebraska Scientists Call Rules and Conductors Express Themselves. It a Fake—Pool's Limits Defined.

The talk that has been occasioned by recent editorials in The Herald calling attention to the matter of poorly ventilated street cars has brought the subject into almost general discussion and it is believed that the results will be beneficial.

Readers of The Herald, since the editorial appeared, have written letters expressing their sentiments while others have given verbal expression of the matter. Car ventilation has been discussed by passengers on the cars, by the conductors and even by the officials of the street railway line.

Manager Warren remarked the other day that The Herald's editorial was timely and will, no doubt, result in more careful attention being given to the subject of ventilation on the part of the company's employees, although Mr. Warren says, there seems to be a wide difference of opinion among people as to what constitutes proper ventilation and the street railway employees have and will find it a matter to please all the patrons of the line.

In connection with this difference of opinion Mr. Warren submits the following letter which he received some days before the editorial appeared:

"Superior, Wis. Jan. 25, 1906.

"Dear Sir: Being compelled to go back and forth from here to Duluth every day I must complain to you that the conductors on the line with some exceptions ought to be instructed to keep the windows of the cars closed unless it is getting too warm. There are some men who do not know that when you sit quiet you feel a draft while walking and forth you do not. I generally leave here at 6:30 in the evening and at this time of the year it is not very warm. Usually there are only a few passengers on the car. The motorman opens his window a little so that you can see out. It is not wrong, but the window between him and the passengers is open and the back door open and three or four transoms open. Most of the time the temperature of your Duluth-Superior cars is about 70 degrees. If you let this go or else see the street car company for damages for a cold contracted by your cars, which is from Superior to Duluth. I think this alone will urge you to give the proper orders.

"Yours very truly," J. J.

Reference has been made to the rules of the street railway company on the subject of ventilation of cars, and the duties of the employees in connection therewith. These rules, taken from the company's manual, are as follows:

Rule 22. The windows and deck ventilators will be regulated by the conductor to suit the weather. In hot or cold weather, the windows shall be kept open all the time unless objected to by passengers.

"Conductors must not under any circumstances open a window or deck ventilator until such passenger has left the car.

"Conductors must use every effort to keep the air in their cars as pure and fresh as possible. In cold weather they will open the ventilators and let out the foul air and close them when the cold weather sets in. They will close them when the cold weather sets in. They will close them when the cold weather sets in.

"The oil bobber," says Maupin, "is a device which is used to keep the oil in the tank. It is a small float which rises and falls with the level of the oil. It is used to keep the oil from getting out of the tank. It is a very simple device, but it is very effective. It is used in all oil tanks. It is a very important part of the oil tank. It is a very important part of the oil tank. It is a very important part of the oil tank.

"The power tests not in the branch, but in the oil and the man who holds the bobber. No one man in 50,000 can make it work, but given the right man and the oil under foot and the bobber will work.

"If there is oil underneath the motor, the operator starts within its circle the rag will drop earthward, and not all the strength of a Samson can hold it. He said that he had been to the oil tank. He said that he had been to the oil tank. He said that he had been to the oil tank. He said that he had been to the oil tank.

THE MOST VITAL FORCE OF LIFE

UPON ITS PURITY DEPEND HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

Just as vigorous health is always an evidence of pure rich blood, so a diseased condition of any part of the system is an unfailing sign that this stream of life is in a weakened or polluted condition. The blood is the most vital force of life, and upon its purity depends not only our health but our happiness, because without the blessing of robust health we cannot enjoy the pleasures nor take advantage of the opportunities of life.

Every part of the body is dependent on the blood for nourishment and strength. The muscles, nerves, bones, sinews, skin and other portions of the system are sustained and enabled to perform their different duties, because they are supplied with nutriment and healthful properties through the circulation. When, however, the body is fed on weak, thin blood the system is deprived of its strength, growth is stunted, disease germs collect and a general impaired condition of the health is the result.

In many ways the blood becomes contaminated and polluted. Often the disease tainted blood of parents is transmitted to offspring and their lives are a continual battle against disease. The blood being impure from birth causes the very foundation of health to be weakened, and we see the hereditary taint manifested by sores and ulcers, weak eyes, catarrh of the head, skin diseases and scrofulous affections of various kinds. Coming in contact with infectious diseases is another cause for the poisoning of the blood; we breathe into our lungs the germs and microbes of Malaria, and when these get into the blood in sufficient quantity it becomes a carrier of disease instead of health. Often a sluggish, inactive condition of the system and torpid state of the avenues of bodily waste leaves the refuse and waste matters to sour and form uric and other acids which are taken up by the blood, and Rheumatism or some itching, burning skin disease is the result.

There is no better index to the character of the blood than the skin. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, spots, pimples, etc., all show that the blood is loaded with some foreign matter which has rendered it sour and unfit for properly supplying nourishment to the body. There is scarcely any disease that cannot be traced to the blood. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood disorders, and until this vital fluid is purified they cannot be cured.

For blood troubles of any character S. S. S. is the best remedy that has ever been discovered. This great medicine is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks which possess not only healing, cleansing properties, but building-up, strengthening ingredients, which act as the finest of tonics to the entire system. S. S. S. goes down into the blood and removes any and all poisons, supplies the healthful properties it needs and completely and permanently cures blood diseases of any kind. So thorough is its action that hereditary taints are removed and weak, diseased blood made strong and healthy so that disease cannot remain, and future posterity is born with an untainted blood supply.

At this season, when the blood has grown sluggish and is filled with the accumulations of bodily refuse, nothing will so quickly cleanse it and restore its healthful properties as S. S. S. It cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., and does not leave the slightest trace of the disease for future outbreaks. The whole volume of blood is cleansed and renewed, and the system put in robust, healthy condition after a course of S. S. S. Book on the blood and any medical advice you may desire without charge.

PASS SITUATION IN ITALY.

Families Included in Privilege Given to Public Officials.

Rome, Feb. 28.—Italy, like the United States, is in the throes of a free pass agitation. Only what makes the situation so difficult to deal with here is the fact that the railroads are in many instances owned by the government.

According to the latest decision of the officials in charge of the state railways, many changes in the free pass system have already been made. The privileges of free passes will still be given to all senators, deputies and their families. The term family in this and in other cases is held to comprise wives, mothers and fathers or grandmothers, sons up to the age of 25, unmarried or widowed daughters and daughters-in-law, as well as two servants. It will be given to the wives and widows of all Knights of the Order of the Annunziata and to a few court officials, under secretaries of the state who are not members of the cabinet, the president and the sectional presidents of the councils of public works, railways and ex-funcionarios above a certain rank and to the first secretaries of the prime minister and minister of public works. It should be remembered that the railway pass of a senator is a deputy carriage with it the right of a reserved carriage. Free passes upon particular railways or portions of railways apart from actual members of the railway administration; also to orphan or railway agents for the purpose of instruction.

In addition, the chief foreign newspaper has a right to three railway tickets at reduced rates by the course of the year, and one free ticket in the same period, which will also be available for the family. The minister of public works has in addition the right to issue every month six tickets for the family, single journey, and 10 tickets every month at reduced rates, which may be given to persons who have deserved such privileges by reason of services rendered to the state or the railway. This order, if enforced as it stands, will greatly restrict the number of gratuitous travelers.

MANY FOR CANADA. London, Feb. 28.—Since Jan. 1, 4,000 passages for emigrants to Canada have been booked by the Salvation Army. The steamer Kensington, which has been chartered for three voyages, sails March 1 with 1,400 emigrants, 1,000 of whom are bread winners.

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulates will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without gripping. Ask your druggist for them.

INTERFERENCE UNWARRANTED. Kansas City, Feb. 28.—John C. Tansley of this city, a member of the Northwestern Operators' association, who also was a member of a committee at the recent Indianapolis conference, is quoted as saying: "President Roosevelt's intervention between the coal miners and the operators, although in the interest of peace, is unwarrantable interference."
